410 AMERICAN AIRBORNE TROOPS KILLED IN ALLIED SHELLING OF U. S. AIRPLANES

76 Nazi Planes Bagged by Yanks In Record Day

Americans Report Spectacular Raid

By W. W. HERCHER

LONDON, March 16. (AP)—American fliers attacking Southern Germany in great strength fought one of the most spectacular aerial battles of the war today in a smashing sequel to record RAF night raids on Stuttgart and other targets by more than 1,000 heavy bombers which dropped a staggering 3,360 tons of bombs.

The Germans threw up a powerful defense fighter force which for the first time used swift four-engined planes and fired rockets in mass, but the American fighters alone shot down seventy-six of the Nazis against a loss of thirteen. The German bag of American bombers was twenty-two.

The American fighters in their six-to-one victory were only seven short of their all-time one-day record of eighty-three German fighters downed in attacks on Berlin earlier this month.

The Brussels radio left the air late tonight, indicating the RAF might be carrying the attack into another night.

Berlin said the American targets, bombed through clouds, were the aircraft city of Augsburg and the ancient garrison town of ULM, which lie in southern Germany between Stuttgart and Munich, a secondary RAF target in last night's record raid. The first official American announcement said only that "industrial targets in Southern Germany" were attacked.

Fighting for its very life, the German air force sent the defenders up in fleets of from seventy-five to 150. Diving American fighters broke these formations up only to have the enemy return in groups of five and ten.

4F's May Join CO's in Service

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—The suggestion was advanced before a House military subcommittee today that a plan might be worked out whereby men classed as 4-F under selective service could be used in essential occupations in a manner similar to that adopted for conscientious objectors.

Chairman Costello (D-Calif) asked Lieut. Col. Francis V. Keesling, Jr., legislative representative from selective service, if such a plan would help the manpower situation.

Keesling said such a step might be "distasteful" but would encourage many 4-Fs (those physically or mentally unfit for military service) to seek essential work.

STOCKHOLM, March 16 (AP) — The Swedish foreign office said in a communique tonight that King Gustav V had communicated to "proper Finnish authorities" his view that Finland should accept Russia's armistice terms.

David Filgas Denies He's Guilty Of Torch Death of Winters Girl

BOY, 16, ON TRIAL

ON TRIAL for murder in connection with the death of Patricia Winters, 17, last December, David Filgas, 16, is shown entering court at Grand Rapids, Mich. The burned body of Miss Winters was found in his car.

Feels Terrible, Youth Testifies

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., March 16 (AP) — The defense of 16-year-old David Filgas, on trial for murder in connection with the lovers' lane death of Patricia Winters, 17, ended today with the boy's own testimony that he "had no reason to burn the car or to injure her."

David said he "felt terrible" about Patricia's torch death the night of Dec. 10 in his father's burning automobile.

Still Feels Badly

"I still do," he added. "I've felt so ever since."

Previously he had told of parking the car in a lonely roadside spot he said the girl had selected, of sharing two bottles of wine with her and of "necking."

He also testified that he and Patricia had exchanged gifts as tokens of affection.

"I had been wearing her ring for more than a year," he continued, adding that he continued to wear it until it was taken from him in the county jail more than a month after her death.

Telling of the fatal tryst, which followed a school dance at which they spent fifteen minutes, the boy declared he recalled no sexual relations although he freely recited a long series of intimacies and said both he and Patricia removed several articles of clothing.

Jury Inspects Car

"Did she agree to these intimacies?" Prosecutor Menso R. Bolt demanded on cross-examination.

"She didn't disagree," the boy replied.

"Is that your answer?" Bolt asked.

"Yes," David testified.

His testimony ended, the jury was permitted to view the death car, which the defense contends caught fire accidentally. Circuit Judge William B. Brown, who conducting the trial, said closing arguments tomorrow would be limited to three hours so that the case would go to the jury tomorrow afternoon.

Fall of Nikolaev Seems Imminent

Russians Encircle Port of Bikolaev

By TOM YARBROUGH

LONDON, March 16 (AP)—The Red army has cut the Odessa-Zhmerinka trunk railway serving hundreds of thousands of disaster-ridden Germans in southern Russia, sealed off the big Black Sea port of Bikolaev on three sides, and wiped out three encircled German divisions originally estimated at 45,000 men, Moscow announced tonight.

Nikolaev's capture was believed to be imminent.

Vapnyarka, twenty-five miles from the Dniester river frontier of Rumania's Bessarabian territory, fell on Wednesday to Marshal Ivan S. Konev's victorious second Ukraine army, said an order of the day issued by Premier-Marshal Stalin. Whole trainloads of equipment were seized and the Russians pushed on to envelop thirty-two more localities in the drive toward Rumania, a later communique said.

Reads Nearing Rumania

The seizure left the Germans to the east only two slender rail escape routes into Rumania, and the Russians now drawing within artillery range of prewar Rumania apparently were seeking to crash into that country and head off the retreat of huge German forces falling back in confusion on Odessa.

A total of 176 towns and villages were taken during the day by two Soviet armies, Moscow said, while in the Proskurov sector near the Old Polish border the Russians still were beating down fierce German counterattacks. Tarnopol, inside Old Poland where the Russians already had cut a section of the Odess-Lwow trunk line between Tarnopol and Prokurov, was not mentioned by Moscow.

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP) — France's "Men of the Maquis" not only are fighting their country's internal battles against German occupation troops and their Vichy supporters, but have launched a new campaign of common law punishments of known violators of moral and criminal laws.

Lose Confidence in Police

This new development in the French underground campaign has been made necessary by the disrepute into which the French Vichy police have fallen. The common man in France today has lost confidence in a force which has shown itself increasingly unable to deal with the wave of crime set off in France by the scarcity of food.

Negroes in Action In South Pacific

By SPENCER DAVIS

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTH PACIFIC, March 15 (AP)—American negro infantrymen are in front line action in the South Pacific for the first time, it was disclosed today. An announcement said Tech. Sgt. Alanzo Douglas of Chicago was the first negro infantryman to kill a Japanese in the Solomons.

He is a member of a combat patrol of the Twenty-fourth negro regiment which infiltrated several thousand yards behind enemy lines on Empress Augusta bay on Bougainville island. The patrol worked its way clear of an enemy ambush Sunday and returned to its own positions.

Nine Candidates Oppose Tydings For Nomination

Slates Completed For May Primary

By DONALD SANDERS

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 16 (AP)—With the deadline for filing for positions on the state primary ballot only six hours away, nine persons sought today the United States Senate seat now held by Senator Millard E. Tydings.

Secretary of State Thomas Elmo Jones planned to keep his office open until midnight to accept candidacy petitions for persons seeking to run in the senatorial and congressional primaries.

The primary will be held May 1.

Midnight was also the deadline for filing with local boards of election supervisors by persons aspiring to be delegates to the state political conventions to be held later this spring.

Presidential aspirants had another five days in which to file for places in the state's preferential primary. The deadline falls at midnight Tuesday.

The two major developments today:

Leaders Clash Over Roosevelt Plans for FCC

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Democrats and Republicans clashed in the Senate today over an administration attempt to win a $1,500,000 appropriation for continued operation of the Federal Communications commission's radio intelligence division.

The House cut that sum from the FCC's appropriation for the next fiscal year starting July 1, but Senator Mead (D-NY) offered an amendment to put it back. Mead said an investigation by President Roosevelt last year proved the FCC intelligence services were valuable to the army and navy and civilian government agencies.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) asserted the president was trying to "superimpose his authority over that of the army and navy by continuing this agency which is duplicating intelligence activities" of the armed services.

"Who's running this war?" Bridges demanded. "Is the president, in a political way, running it or is the army and navy?"

Bridges said he thought Congress should take the word of War Secretary Stimson and Navy Secretary Knox who wrote President Roosevelt early in 1943 proposing that the FCC's intelligence activities be transferred to the army and navy. The president turned down the suggestion.

'GRIPSHOLM' REPATRIATES CHEER HOME SHORE

FROM THE RAILS of the Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm United States civilians and military personnel recently released from months and years of Nazi imprisonment lift a cheer for the homeland as their ship pauses at quarantine in New York harbor. Comprising diplomatic representatives, Red Cross workers, newspaper correspondents, unofficial civilians and sick or wounded prisoners of war, the United States contingent numbered over 500 men, women and children. In addition, 103 Latin-Americans were returned.

Wounded Yanks Reach New York

Gripsholm Brings Happy Soldiers

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP) — Thirty-five wounded American soldiers, among the first prisoners of war to arrive back home from the European theater, grinned happily today as they hobbled about on crutches, leaned on canes, or lay swathed in bandages.

The soldiers came home on the exchange liner Gripsholm and were taken to Halloran General Hospital Staten island. There they told of their experiences and of their treatment at the hands of Germans.

Prisoners Well Treated

That treatment was "not at all unfriendly," Sgt. Philip E. Guter of Maplewood, N. J., reported. The sergeant, wounded in the Sicilian campaign, recalled how the Germans even showed them a musical film with English titles, how they provided an adequate amount of books, and such un-Teutonic phonograph records as "The Jersey Bounce" and "Deep in the Heart of Texas."

German Doctors Friendly

So far as medical treatment was concerned, Maj. Robert F. Post, 26, of Jamestown, N. Y., ranking officer among them, said that "considering the sort of equipment German prison doctors were given to work with, we were treated very well."

Post lost an eye when he was shot down over Holland.

Pfc. Joseph I. Hunter of Brooklyn, N. Y., who lost a leg in the landings at Salerno, said "I lay there all day and watched the German tanks roll by. I can say that the front line Germans were all right. They could easily have killed me by running over me, but they didn't."

Leftover Aspirin Sent to Collector

LOS ANGELES, March 16 (AP) —Robert H. Cromwell enclosed his leftover aspirin tablets when he mailed his income tax return to the collector of internal revenue.

He might have saved not only the aspirin, but $16, collector Harry C. Westover said. He claimed only half the exemptions to which he was entitled.

Westover returned the $16 but kept the aspirin.

Elliott's Second Wife Asks Divorce

Calls President's Son Harsh, Unkind

FORTH WORTH, Tex., March 16 (AP)—The second wife of Col. Elliott Roosevelt, son of the president, filed suit today to end the marriage which climaxed a whirlwind courtship nearly eleven years ago.

Mrs. Ruth Googins Roosevelt's petition for divorce charged the colonel, now on duty in the European war theater, with "unkind, harsh and tyrannical conduct" before they separated about Oct. 1 last year. She asked for custody of their three children and for one-half of their community property.

Roosevelt and Miss Googins, daughter of Mrs. Ruth S. Googins of Fort Worth, were married July 22, 1933, five days after he was divorced by his first wife, Elizabeth Donner Roosevelt.

R. K. Hanger, attorney who signed the petition filed today, said waivers of contest would be sent to Colonel Roosevelt's APO address for his signature.

In asking custody of the children, Ruth Chandler, 9, Elliott, Jr., 6, and David Boynton, 2, Mrs. Roosevelt said she possessed a substantial separate estate and income and was fully able and desirous of having them. She asked that their father "be permitted to see and visit said children at all reasonable times and hours."

The divorce petition said the plaintiff had at all times "conducted herself with propriety," and alleged that Roosevelt was "guilty of excesses, cruel treatment and outrages toward the plaintiff of such a nature as to render their living together insupportable."

Included in the petition's listing of community property in which Mrs. Roosevelt asks half interest were the 1,300-acre Dutch branch ranch, stocks, bonds, cattle, household property and furniture and other personal property.

Before entering the army, Elliott was an advertising executive in New York and California and later formed a Texas radio network.

The new squadrons have not yet been in action, but they are ready to go. They bring the total to four negro fighter squadrons complete with negro ground crews now established in Italy.

Allies Holding Most of Cassino

Wreckage Delays Advance of Tanks

By JOSEPH MORTON

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, March 16 (AP) — Allied troops had occupied three-fourths of strategic Cassino tonight after Fifth army sappers blew a path through the demolished town, field dispatches said, and were mopping up pockets of Germans.

Some groups of Germans apparently had re-entered the wreckage after the shattering of this town, which lies on the road to Rome, by yesterday's 2,500-ton bomb assault.

Devastation wrought by the air and accompanying artillery bombardment handicapped the advance of Allied infantry and tank units, which were forced to poke their way foot-by-foot through the wreckage.

In a dispatch datelined "with the Fifth army at Cassino," Lynn Heinzerling, Associated Press correspondent, said that while Allied soldiers fought surviving Germans in the southern part of the town, other attack units were clawing their way up Monastery hill and seemed to be nearing their goal — the Nazi-occupied ruins of its Benedictine abbey.

Allied gunners poured hundreds of high explosive and smoke shells into the already battered abbey, he said, explaining that the smoke shells were aimed at cutting off German observation of Allied activities in the valley before the town.

23 Transports Shot Down in Sicily Tragedy

Facts Withheld Since Last July

By WILLIAM F. FRYE

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP) — The loss of 410 American airborne infantrymen in twenty-three transport planes shot down by anti-aircraft fire from their own ground and naval forces plus enemy fire during the invasion of Sicily was disclosed today by the army after a sergeant broke the military censorship which kept the incident secret eight months.

Without explanation of the secrecy previously imposed, an official memorandum was issued describing the mistake which occurred as airborne reinforcements were being flown into the Gela sector the night of July 10-11, 1943.

Sergeant Spills News

Sergeant Jack Foisie, a correspondent of the army's overseas newspaper Stars and Stripes, made the first public announcement of the affair in a speech yesterday to San Francisco's Commonwealth Club. Foisie said "some twenty of our planes went down" from Allied anti-aircraft fire.

Asked about the sergeant's statement at his press conference today, Secretary of War Stimson replied that incidents of that nature had occurred during the war, but that he was unable to give details of the particular case and "did not recognize the figures" used by Foisie.

Reports of the Sicilian incident had been current for several months, although official confirmation could not be obtained, and the War department, after requests were made for a more definite reply than the secretary's, made public several hours later the details of the action.

Army Explains Tragedy

The operation was intended, the army said, to land 2,500 troops of the Eighty-second airborne division as reinforcements within the Allied lines in the Gela area.

"This force, consisting of 170 aircraft, received anti-aircraft fire from enemy ground forces and from friendly naval and ground forces with losses of twenty-three aircraft and 410 personnel," the memorandum said.

"The flight arrived in the battle area immediately following an enemy bombing attack and while their flares were still in the air.

"The combination of circumstances involving the approach immediately in rear of a hostile bombing attack at night at a relatively low altitude were the responsible factors in the loss of the planes.

"This action was made the basis of careful study designed to improve identification and timing and prevent similar losses in the future.

"The navy concurs in this statement."

Second Anniversary in Australia Finds MacArthur Better Prepared

By MURLIN SPENCER

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Friday, March 17. (AP)—The second anniversary today of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's arrival in Australia from the Philippines finds him in a better military position than ever before, but he still is a long way from his No. 1 objective—his long-planned return to the Philippines.

He has more troops, more planes, more ships than ever before and his position has improved materially in the past few months.

Still Lacks Men

He still doesn't have the great force which will be required to launch an immediate attack to drive the Japanese from their Philippine positions, however.

A comparison of MacArthur's position from a military standpoint now and two years ago, or even a year ago, would give a false impression of his present position. He had so little that one could say his army has increased many times in the past two years and be correct.

To compare the situation now and then would require an understanding of what he had on March 17, 1942. Then, his American forces—the army he hoped had been built up in Australia to enable him to begin an imemdiate campaign to rescue his comrades in arms on Bataan and Corregidor—were made up of one infantry division, the Thirty-Second Red Arrow division, and a handful of bomber and fighter planes.

Many of Australia's veteran divisions were still overseas and were not available to him.

One Division Hard Hit

At the conclusion of the Buna, New Guinea, campaign in January, 1943, he had two American infantry divisions, the Thirty-Second and the Forty-First, and the Thirty-Second had been mauled in overrunning Japanese defenses in Papua. Australian troops also had been hard hit.

MacArthur had more planes, but bombers still were forced to make their raids on Rabaul, New Britain and Kavieng, New Ireland, without fighter protection.

Dirksen Anxious To Run with Dewey; Tours Nation, Finds GOP Gaining

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Rep. Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, who recently completed a 20,000-mile tour of twenty-two states to further what he calls his "availability" for the Republican presidential nomination, was described by associates today as receptive to a vice-presidential nomination on a ticket with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dirksen himself would not discuss it, insisting he is maintaining "friendly relations" with all presidential aspirants. But it was learned he intends to see Dewey next week in New York.

Friends of the forty-eight-year-old legislator, now in his twelfth year in Congress, said he would report to Dewey on what he found in the west, far west and two eastern states as to the public attitude on candidates and issues.

Dirksen would not discuss candidates in an interview today, but said he found:

1—Next to winning the war, the people "strangely enough," consider simplification and modification of taxes the No. 1 issue.

2—There is a "real resurgence of Republican spirit in every economic level—farmers, business men, and labor elements."

3—There is "little question but what the House will go Republican by a reasonably substantial margin, probably thirty to thirty-five seats." The best indicator, he said, was the recent Denver special congressional election in which a Republican business man won in a Democratic district over a war veteran. He sees a "possibility" of Republicans capturing the Senate.

4—The "thinking of people today is fundamental—they are thinking broad gauge, not little things. For example, they want to know when Congress is going to get its powers back, when there is going to be a reduction of federal bureaus and personnel. They want a balanced government and an unimpaired judiciary."

American Amphibious Units Invade Manus, Largest of Admiralty Isles

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

American amphibious forces invaded Manus island, largest of the Admiralty group in the Southwest Pacific, Wednesday, while land-based Liberators made their first raid on Truk presaging frequent bombings of Japan's greatest Central Pacific stronghold.

Infantrymen splashed ashore on Manus under the cover of a heavy barrage from warships, planes and artillery, the latter firing from nearby islands, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported. The invaders suffered only minor losses as they pushed to within half a mile of Lorengau airdrome, the only one in the Admiralty group that Allied air forces aren't already using.

New Air Successes

New air successes—over Truk, Wewak and Rabaul—were reported as a high ranking naval officer predicted the American fleet would be close enough to Tokyo in another year to blast the reluctant Japanese navy out of its harbors.

The Liberators rode in on Truk under cover of darkness to drop their bombs just before dawn on Dublon and Eten islands. Dublon is a major supply and ship repair base. Eten is an air field. They flank the anchorage where carrier - borne American planes surprised Japanese warships Feb. 16 in a two day foray that cost the Japanese twenty-three ships and 201 airplanes.

Wednesday's raiders flew from recently captured air fields in the Western Marshalls—either Eniwetok, 750 air miles from Truk, or Kwajalein, about 1,000 miles distant.

Other Islands Attacked

The Truk strike was coordinated with attacks on three other Eastern Caroline islands and two atolls in the eastern Marshalls. The blow at Truk is the most advanced action by land-based Central Pacific forces.

"In another year we'll be pretty close to Tokyo," said Rear Adm. Frederick C. Sherman, an aircraft carrier task force commander. "If the Japs won't come out and fight, we'll sink them in their harbors with our carrier-borne planes."

War Production To Be Sacrificed

Youths in Industry To Serve in Army

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—To build a young man's army, the high command has decided to sacrifice war production if necessary, the steel industry was informed today by Chairman Donald M. Nelson of the War Production Board.

Military requirements call for the combat use of virtually every available able-bodied man in the country under 26, Nelson was quoted—by highly reliable sources—as telling a closed meeting of the steel industry advisory committee.

An official account of Nelson's message, released later, gave a rephrased version but quoted Nelson as declaring that the army and navy need men and "they must get the men, even if it means losing production."

The steelmen were informed, it was officially revealed that they must expect "severe manpower losses" in the next few months because of the draft.

Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey, who also addressed the group, stressed the armed forces' need for young men between 18 and 26.

He they expressed "sympathy" with the manpower problems of industry, and told the producers they "should not be dismayed" if they fail to meet production quotas because of military demands for men.

Nelson, slightly more optimistic, declared that all industry undoubtedly faces one of the most difficult periods of the war, but voiced confidence in its ability to "produce all the goods needed despite manpower losses."

Some of the steel men, however, forecast serious losses in production. They said there are 42,000 fewer men working in steel plants now than two months ago, while the rate of decline is accelerating.

Earlier in the day, selective service told a Congressional committee that 160,000 prewar fathers had to be drafted ahead of their time because Paul V. McNutt's War Manpower commission failed to produce replacements for young men deferred because of their industrial jobs.

Former German Bombs Old Home

Pleased To Get Even with Nazis

AT A FLYING FORTRESS BASE IN ENGLAND, March 16. (AP)—A 23-year-old German who fled to the United States five years ago told today, with tears in his eyes but with bitterness toward the Nazis, how he participated in the bombing of his home town in Southern Germany.

A waist-gunner on an American bomber, he must remain anonymous since the Germans hold his brother in a concentration camp.

It was a sad but thrilling experience as he looked down on the streets he knew. For a moment, he said, he felt homesick, then remembered his mother, father and two sisters slain by the Gestapo and his brother, a Gestapo prisoner.

This was his story of his first trip over Germany:

"I had no particular reaction when I first heard what the target would be but as we crossed into Germany I got terribly excited looking out of the window for landmarks.

"When I saw some of the hills I knew, a flash of homesickness got me for a second. I couldn't have shot anything if I wanted to just then but that feeling soon passed and I was back on the alert for enemy fighters. When we came across the center of the town I could pick out a few buildings."

He is raiding Germany at his own request. When he completed his training he was scheduled for the Pacific theater but he convinced his commanding officer that, because of personal hatred for the Nazis, he "deserved a break to come back and fight them."

Fall of Nikolaev

Germans trying stubbornly to prevent a Russian break-through to the Carpathian mountain borders of Rumania and Hungary.

The announcement that Vapnyarka had fallen Wednesday revealed that Konev's troops, which had bridged the middle Bug river on a 62-mile front to crush the last natural Axis defense line in lower Russia, had rolled up gains of twenty-eight miles or more on the first day of the sensational breakthrough.

To the southeast Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky's third Ukraine army captured Nova-Odessa, thus reaching the lower Bug river twenty miles northwest of imperilled Nikolaev, and only seventy-five miles from the major prize, the Black Sea base of Odessa.

Another Unwanted Whale for Florida

MIAMI, Fla., March 16 (AP)—The body of another—and bigger—dead whale washed up on the beach at Baker's haulover today.

The coast guard disposed of the forty-ton hulk of one of the deep sea creatures yesterday by towing it seven miles out to sea. When a huge body appeared in the surf today about five miles north of Miami Beach, it was thought to be the same whale.

Coast guard headquarters, however, said the newest "find" is twenty feet longer and slightly different color. It will follow its dead companion out to sea.

Both whales may have been killed by depth charges as the played around steamer lanes off the Florida keys last Sunday.

Ford Motor Company Scored by Thomas

DETROIT, March 16 (AP) — R. J. Thomas, president of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), said tonight that his union had not committed itself to approval of the suspension of fifty Ford Motor Company employes involved in the barricading of Rouge plant gates yesterday.

He declared, however, that the UAW-CIO "will not retreat" from its no-strike pledge.

"The Ford Motor Company, through its news bureau, consistently has misrepresented the position of the union," Thomas said. "The union is capable of speaking for itself."

Three States Assure Roosevelt Laws Will Enable Vets To Vote

[By The Associated Press]

Governors of three states—California, Maryland and Kansas—assured President Roosevelt yesterday that their state's laws will permit use of federal ballots for service voting.

At least eight others, an Associated Press survey showed, were ready to give him qualified assurance that any required changes in state laws will be made.

Most of the governors, however, still had the question in the study stage. They were awaiting copies of the soldier voting bill, or opinions from state legal authorities, before replying to Mr. Roosevelt's telegraphed questionnaire.

Hitler Delivers Gas To Jimmy Cagney

LONDON, March 16 (AP) — The lines weren't in the script but Jimmy Cagney, Hollywood tough guy, told a soldier audience recently "I think the general idea right now is to get the hell outa here," and they did.

With a large crowd of soldiers and officers Cagney moved to shelter from a theater somewhere in England seconds before a gasoline tank from a Nazi plane crashed through the roof.

"Back in the states," said Cagney, here on an entertainment tour of United States army camps, "I had to fight to get two gallons of gas a week. Over here Hitler sends me tanksful — special delivery."

French Patriots

clothes and money caused by the German occupation.

One of the most startling phases of this new development of the Partisan organizations is that the "Men of the Maquis" — French patriots who have taken to the woods to fight the Vichy collaborationists — execute summary justice on any woman found associating with Nazi occupation troops.

The punishment is varied to fit the case. The most unusual punishment for an unmarried girl known to be friendly with German soldiers is for her to be kidnapped by a terrorist band from the Maquis, have her head half shaved and then be turned loose in the streets of her home town as an object of scorn.

A married woman will have all the hair shaved off her head, while women whose husbands are war prisoners in Germany often are sentenced to death by a firing squad and the bodies left with warning cards pinned to the breast.

The hair shaving sentence is also frequently carried out on women who have husbands in war prison camps for too friendly relations with other Frenchmen. In such cases execution of the sentence is usually delayed until the well-organized underground has been able to communicate with the husband and obtain his approval, which is generally forthcoming.

Cumberlanders Should Prepare for Voting

THE PEOPLE OF CUMBERLAND are facing a civic obligation this newspaper trusts will not be so glaringly disregarded as it was in the recent city primary election. It will be their duty to go to the polls Tuesday and cast their ballots for those who are to represent them in the conduct of their home-town government during the next two years.

The ballot will bear the names of two nominees for mayor and eight nominees for city councilmen, of whom four are to be chosen. It is hoped that the selections will be made by a majority of the citizens instead of a minority, as majority rule is one of the fundamental concepts of the American political system.

Consequently, it behooves citizens to prepare themselves for intelligent and discriminative judgment in making these selections. They should examine carefully the qualifications of the ten men who are standing for election. It is important that the best of the group be chosen on that basis.

Yes, it is true that not a great deal of interest has been stirred up in the primary and election campaigns this time, as has been the case in other years. That is the result, largely, of the absorption of interest, time and effort in the general war objectives, particularly on the home front where there have been so many dislocations.

But it should be borne in mind that, while self-government continues to obtain in this country, it must be utilized and supported, because preservation of free government is the chief objective of the war we are fighting, and if we fail here through indifference and neglect it will work for its impairment.

The Willkie Bag Is a Bit Short

SUPPORTERS of Governor Dewey can take much comfort in the results of the New Hampshire Republican presidential test held this week—the first in the nation.

New Hampshire was generally conceded to be a Willkie stronghold. For a number of weeks prior to the primaries the Willkie men, and Willkie himself, gave out assurances that the state was in the bag for him. Considerable effort was exerted by them to win over the Republicans of the state.

But, instead of getting everything in the bag, Willkie appears to have won only six of the eleven delegates. It adds up this way: Four of the delegates were unpledged but had previously announced for Willkie; two delegates were pledged to Dewey outright; five delegates were unpledged with no announcement of their stand, but two of them are claimed for Willkie.

Willkie had requested his delegates to run unpledged because of a strict state law requiring pledged delegates to vote for their candidate as long as his name is before the convention, even though the candidate releases them. Dewey supporters point to the fact that he got the only pledged delegates and say they had not expected to show such strength; also that the only three candidates pledged to Willkie lost out.

A Democratic primary was held at the same time, of course, but it was of the cut and dried variety, a sixteen-man delegation with ten convention votes pledged to Roosevelt having been elected. That shows the administration machine is pretty well oiled and functioning smoothly of which showing Republican workers should take due cognizance.

De Valera Policy Is Inexplicable

PRIME MINISTER EAMON DE VALERA denies that the Irish Free State has been guilty of negligence, yet admits that the German legation in Dublin, until recently, at least, had a radio sending set and he also admits that two parachutists equipped with radio sending sets were dropped from German planes on Irish territory. If this can go on so openly, what must be going on secretly? The world has long known of the skill of German spies.

The Allies are quite justified in feeling uneasy about the situation. Thousands of American troops are stationed in North Ireland. The movements of these troops obviously will provide an important key to the timing of the invasion of Western Europe. With the whole border area honeycombed with German spies, the Allies are in a difficult position.

It is strange that now of all times — when Germany is reeling badly—De Valera should be fearful that any act in protecting the border, or of severing diplomatic relations with the Axis, should provoke war with Germany and Japan. In the light of the way the war is moving, it seems incredible that any well-posted statesman should take a fear like this one so seriously.

If De Valera's policy were neutrality at all costs it could be understood. But Eire's relations with Britain are notoriously bad—even though its economy and safety are inextricably intertwined with Britain—while it remains on a sort of fearful friendship with Germany. The Irish prime minister seems not at all afraid of insulting Britain, or endangering American troops, but he will do almost anything, apparently, to avoid offending Germany.

If the Allies remember, after hostilities, who their friends were during the war, the future will not be bright for the De Valeras, the Francos and the Argentine junkers.

A Question Is Answered By Senator Aiken

SPEAKING in New York city the other night, Senator George D. Aiken, Vermont Republican, answered a question frequently asked of late as to how the executive department of the federal government could have initiated a general subsidy program and spend hundreds of millions of dollars in subsidy payments when there was no legislation authorizing such action and no appropriation made for Congress for the purpose.

"The answer is," Senator Aiken said, "that Congress has been so lax during recent years in its delegation of authority to the White House that we now have thirty-two agencies of government which are not audited by the General Accounting Office, which is the agency of government responsibility to the Congress and which is the agency that is required to guard against illegal expenditures."

It must be remembered that this laxity obtained during New Deal control of the Congress. Lately the Congress has begun to reassert its duty in this respect, but it has discovered that the grants are so numerous that it is possible for the executive to move around the corner and obtain money and authorizations whenever an effort is made to shut him off in any particular instance. It has been a case of trying to lock the barn door after the horse has been stolen.

Senator Aiken noted that correction of this evil has been started and urged Congress to continue its efforts in that direction, but urged that "government by regulation" be thrown out in this "year of decision" by the election of capable men and women for local, state and national offices, and through more self-regulation by farmers, labor and business through their cooperatives, unions and trade organizations. It is sound advice.

A Day We All Hope Will Come Again

IN A FEW DAYS it will be necessary to say farewell again to the gay red two-cent stamp, harbinger of good times and easy money. There have been long periods when the two-cent stamp was good throughout the nation. After March 26, it will be worthless unless used in conjunction with the pale green one.

Grimly, citizens will apply the dismal purple—who selected that color?—stamps on local letters, hoping earnestly for the day when the red stamp will once more be considered good enough, not only for letters destined for town but for all points in the nation.

Common instinct tells the American that he is living in a world of destruction, waste and debt, and that the world can not live indefinitely beyond its means. He knows that if he is to escape the inevitable penalty of waste and debt, he must give more personal attention to his future.

The ultimate in bureaucracy has been discovered. An official in the department of the Interior (run by Superman Harold Ickes) recommends that water in West Virginia be rationed!

Prayer for These Times

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Give me Courage. . . . I have great need of it for the way is dark and I have not gone this way before. I must be bold.

Give me Fear. . . . Without fear my courage means little. If I fear not, how can I know how my brother feels, why a sister falters? Give me fear so that my understanding may be greater.

Marshall Maslin

Give me Faith. . . . Though I cannot see through the darkness, I must believe that the way is straight and sure. I must have trust in people, in life.

Give me Doubt. . . . I must not go blindly, even though I have faith. I must think and be skeptical of those very things in which most profoundly believe.

Give me Joy. . . . I want no frail amusement. I would be stretched apart. I would be large enough to laugh great laughter and make a thunder in the hills.

Give me Agony. . . . A little life is such a pathetic thing. Little pains, little grievances, little miseries are such meager trials of our humanity. Let me know what strength is in me.

Give me Pride. . . . A man must have that. Without pride, he stumbles and cannot rise and is a feeble creature.

Give me Humility. . . . I need to know my own littleness, how limited is my understanding, how microscopic any deed of mine.

Give me Beauty. . . . Let me look into the heart of life and see its loveliness. Both the outer beauty and the inner beauty that is beyond all seeing or touching.

Give me Ugliness. . . . The serene and shapely are as our daily bread to us but a man must not go through this life with averted eyes.

Give me Wisdom and give me Foolishness. . . . Let me love Strength without rejecting all that is light. Give me the Knowing Eye and the Enduring Spirit—and if I have asked too much give me one thing, then, and forget the rest.

Give me in their stead an Understanding Heart—and it will last me all the year through.

Babson Advises Colored Workers To Save Money

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Fla., March 17.—I am writing to the several million of colored people in this country. Moreover, I do so as a friend,—one who has contributed money and time to help them.

The way you are foolishly spending money today is a shame and disgrace. Not only are most of you now wasting money, but you are almost convincing your friends that you are unworthy to have good wages. You are showing an utter disregard of any knowledge of finances or economics.

Roger W. Babson

Present high wages cannot continue. Many of you will be out of employment after the war. Millions of war workers will be discharged and—although it will be unjust—you will be discharged first. Therefore, you should save up money NOW to help you in these hard days ahead. Most white workers are now doing this.

Why So Lazy?

Some of you foolishly refuse to work if you have a little cash in your pockets. This applies to great strong men and women as well as to your own people. Too many of you seem to have no regard for the needs of the country in this crucial hour. You are citizens as well as the white workers. You claim you are not treated right. I do not agree to this: but if it is true, it is because so many of you are lazy and wasteful.

I am writing this to the South where I have worked with colored people for twenty winters. I have fought for you and got you out of jail when the sheriff unjustly arrested you. I know your good points and weak points; but I never before saw you in the lazy, wasteful and saucy moods that some of you put on today. From letters which I get, I fear you are behaving worse in the North than you are here in the South.

Don't Depend Upon Aunt Eleanor

Many of you say, "Aunt Eleanor will take care of us after the war." Perhaps Aunt Eleanor will not be the president's wife after the war! President Roosevelt may not be re-elected. Besides, even Mrs. Roosevelt is getting out of patience with you. She is beginning to wonder if she may not have made a mistake in praising you as she did. It is true that white workers strike when they shouldn't, but they are not lazy nor do they throw their money away.

Does it ever occur to you what would happen to our country if all the people—white and colored—acted as so many of you colored people act? We would lose the war, and we all, including you, would be slaves of the Germans and Japanese. Your attitude simply does not make sense from any point of view. Therefore as a friend, I beg of you all to get all the work you can get; work as faithfully as you can; and save, save, save!

A True Story

Lea me prove that colored boys have just as good an opportunity to succeed as white boys. A few years ago Webber college at Babson Park, Fla., employed salaried boys in the kitchen. Among them was one named James Paul Goss. The dean noticed that whereas all the others went to the movies or shot craps in the evening James practiced for hours to learn typing. When the summer vacation came, he begged me to take him North and get him a job in an office. This I did. It was James first opportunity.

James did so well that I brought him back from Florida in the fall. That winter he typed all my newspaper columns. In March, 1942, he was drafted. One day an officer asked if anyone of the men could type. James held up his hand. Then he was given his second opportunity. He has not held a gun since that day. He gradually worked into administrative duties. He became a corporal, a sergeant, a second, and then a first lieutenant. He now is a captain with the savings of $5,000 in bank and life insurance values. When one of his colored friends was asked why James got on so well he replied:

"Well, you know, James does not drink or smoke; he works and saves and reads his Bible every day." Last week, James was given his third opportunity at Camp Springs army air field, Washington, D. C.

Stay Free Together

From the Pittsburgh Press

Speaking at Boston University, Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, has proposed a platform upon which he believes management and labor can meet halfway in "a pact of non-aggression and mutual assistance."

"We of management will try to repress monopolistic practices, unfair treatment of competitors, and business racketeering," he said. "You of labor will try to repress monopolistic practices, unfair treatment of fellow-workers, and labor racketeers.

"We will tell you the financial facts about us. You will tell us the financial facts of life about you.

"We will try to reduce the number of our 'strikes' which withhold inventions and products. You will try to reduce the number of your strikes which withhold labor and service.

"We will try to give you job security and basic income security. You will try to give a full honest day's work every day.

"We will recognize you and refrain from trying to cripple you with unfair regulatory laws. But you will recognize us and refrain from trying to destroy us by unfair and ruinous laws."

It's a sound platform, and Mr. Johnston's advocacy of it is made effective by his fairness. He acknowledges that every sin for which unions are criticized has had its counterpart in business. He recognizes that, in a free country, unionism must be as much a social and economic fact as management. He proclaims equal need for reforms on each side—"We all ought to hit the sawdust trail together."

And, beyond question, he is correct when he warns that, if management and labor turn this country into a continuous brawl, government will chain them both. But if they make the better choice—if they work together and stay free—"I have no doubt of the result: A strong America, an America unlimited."

Getting Rid Of the King

From the Altoona, Pa., Tribune

Prominent American-Italians have criticized the Allied policy in support of the Badoglio regime and the royal house of Savoy in Italy.

A letter signed by Arturo Toscanini, orchestra conductor, and others described as "anti-fascists," declared that "the power of the monarch of Italy should be surrendered at once to a provisional government."

The letter stated that "in view of the statements made by Prime Minister Churchill in his speech to the house of commons February 22, we feel it our duty to denounce to the American people any attempt to force the Italian people to maintain the rule of the house of Savoy."

We can sympathize with this statement. Italy's king and royal family have done little enough for the people of that unhappy land in the last two decades. The king has been a weak king. He has been relegated to oblivion by the pompous Mussolini, who has ground the common people under an iron heel in order to provide aggrandizement for the top gangsters of his Fascist party, and to wring from a normally peaceful people the weapons to wage reluctant war.

The Italian people owe their king nothing. They have every right to choose their own provisional government.

We believe the Allies are of this same opinion. It is much too obvious to be ignored. But, the rehabilitation of Italy cannot be foremost now. Its new government must await the end of war. In the meantime, there is a great task to be finished.

It probably serves the Allied cause best to save time by keeping Badoglio and some part of the old established law and order in effect. It can be thrown out when there is time to do the job right.

UNWILLING SAINT-PATRICK

Review of Pacific Battles Shows That Airpower Must Be Well Supplemented

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Air power enthusiasts have had such a spectacular weapon of war to talk about that the public mind has too often been colored quite naturally by the extravagant statements of the exponents of air warfare.

Day after day, for instance, the dispatches tell of thousands of tons of bombs being dropped on Germany, but the public learns very little about what is really being hit—how much actual military damage is being done. Air power is indispensable in modern war, but its sponsors have perhaps overplayed its significance so that today a large segment of the American people still believe that the war in Europe can be won without big land-army operations and the hard, gruelling struggle that must precede victory.

David Lawrence

The latest example of overstatement which has in it an unfortunate tendency to disparage other weapons of war comes this week in a news dispatch written by an American correspondent "aboard a U. S. aircraft carrier in the Pacific."

"Carriers have decided almost every critical Pacific naval battle of this war—Coral sea, Midway, Eastern Solomons and Santa Cruz", he writes. "In these engagements fighting surface ships did not sight the enemy. Most of them were 100 miles away.

Misleading Impression

The foregoing was doubtless not intended to belittle the accomplishments of other naval forces, but millions of readers will get from that dispatch a misleading impression. For it should not be forgotten that the battles referred to were defensive battles for us—they were "critical" only because Japan was on the offensive.

The most important battle fought by the United States navy, in fact our first "offensive" naval battle of this war and one that may go down in American history as really the turning point in the Pacific, was fought for the most part in hours when airplanes are useless at sea—at night—in the vicinity of Guadalcanal in the Solomons from November 13 to 15, 1942. In that first engagement Adm. Halsey's cruisers and destroyers steamed right into a row of Japanese warships, including a battleship. In that battle Adm. Callaghan on the cruiser San Francisco lost his life. In that battle a numerically inferior American group of cruisers and destroyers engaged a heavy Japanese fleet. On the second night American battleship reinforcements came to the rescue. The fighting was at close range.

Big Stakes

Was it a "critical" battle? The stakes were 10,000 American marines standing helpless on Guadalcanal. Had that battle been lost, our marines would have been butchered by an overwhelming Japanese force, and Henderson field, the first air base we acquired when we turned the war in the Pacific from the defensive to the offensive, was saved for what has since become the conquest of the whole Solomons archipelago.

Another critical night battle of naval vessels was fought on November 2, 1943, off Empress Augusta bay to protect the landing of our ground troops on Bougainville in the Northern Solomons. The Japanese navy thought the area important enough to send down a fleet of twelve Japanese warships, which was beaten off after three hours of slugging by our cruisers and destroyers. That meant the acquisition for us of a big airfield on Bougainville island and new bases for the land-based planes which have done so much damage since to Rabaul.

Also it may be asked, what of the destroyers which have helped to win for Gen. MacArthur's planes more and more land bases in New Britain and fought so many undramatic battles in and around New Guinea, New Britain and New Ireland, venturing boldly into harbors and inlets and bombarding the enemy shipping there? What of the constant naval bombardment by our cruisers before landings are made and what of the work of the submarines which have cut enemy supply lines? All this could be called the battle of New Guinea and the Solomons.

Time No Deterrent

A battle is no less critical or decisive because it takes months instead of days to win. This battle from Guadalcanal to Rabaul has extended over a period of eighteen months. Without the victory won there and the subsequent naval blockade, our aircraft carriers would have met land-based enemy planes from the Rabaul and Bougainville areas and would not have dared to venture into the Carolines, where enemy ships between Rabaul and Truk have been on the defensive now for several weeks.

Aircraft carriers have their place—they are an important weapon, but no more or less important than submarines or destroyers or cruisers or battleships or land-based bombers. These long-range, land-based planes get their opportunity to operate over the seas adjacent to air bases only when suitable airfields are captured through a combination of the efforts of surface ships and submarines, supplemented splendidly by air power emerging from both ship and shore.

Nazis Can't Sustain Bombing of London, Paul Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The Germans have been able to get together enough bombing planes to stage a new compaign against London.

The number of planes at their bases back in from the French coast indicates they may be able to send over fifty to 100 planes three or four nights a week.

Paul Mallon

That is all there seems to be behind their heavy scale (150 to 200 bomber) attack on the British capital early this week. Our best check lends confidence to the conviction they cannot sustain even such a moderate scale offensive as that one, and have no facilities to expand their newly opened air front.

Stories have been circulated that the bombings of London have been more severe than officially reported. There may be some truth in this general suspicion since it is not considered good military custom to divulge bombing damage. But the more significant truths of the situation are simply these:

Pot-Shot Stuff

About six weeks ago the Germans renewed small scale night air attacks using about fifty planes one or two nights a week (one week five attacks.) They hit some south England cities by concentrated mainly upon London.

Their raids necessarily were pot-shot hit-and-run bombing on large area targets. No accurate attack on a war industry center has been made. They may have hit some military objectives, but their main objective plainly was to offset psychologically the effect of British-American raids on Germany with some show of encouraging retaliation.

If they could get the planes, they might make it hurt, because their bases are closer to their objectives than ours are. But great stores and replacements are needed for sustained air campaigns and these the Germans obviously do not have.

They got these few planes together apparently by sacrificing them from the Russian front, and savings from their dwindling production for some months past.

The most they can do, therefore, is to knock down some buildings, start fires and cause suffering and death to the British civilian population. They cannot impede concentrations for the second front by precision raids, or bring decisive consequences of any military nature.

Incidentally our bombing ventures over Germany the past week significantly have encountered little or no German fighter plane opposition. Hitler's fighter force was weakened by the previous two weeks of battling.

Chinese Make Good

The Chinese have shown on the North Burma front what they can do if armed, trained and fed.

They routed the famed Eighteenth Jap Division (famed as far as the Japs are concerned for having taken Singapore), killed 2,500 and dispersed into the jungle those who were able to run. In this, they beat all kinds of Jap fighting frontal assaults, jungle encircling, tree-hanging and what not.

Their main objective was to destroy the Jap threat to the new road into China from India, still nearing completion.

The Chinese used the American tanks and equipment well, fighting under a solitary American officer, Col. Rothwell H. Brown, son of the columnist, George Rothwell Brown. In charge of planning the operation was Gen. Stilwell, who somehow always seems able to produce strong moving action.

Although the British have just about come out even in their South Burma campaign, this North Burma experience should impress Lord Mountbatten as to what may be possible in the Burma jungles.

It Needs Clearing

From the Christian Science Monitor

The furore over the Arabian oil proposal cannot have been totally unforeseen by Mr. Ickes, the Petroleum Reserves Corporation which he heads, or the oil companies with whom he had reached an agreement in priciple.

The Arabian project raises questions about the extent of government participation in foreign fields, the relations of these developments to others already undertaken without government assistance, the position of domestic producers forced to compete with government-aided producers outside the country, the degree to which exploitation of foreign fields and conservation of oil reserves at home will hamper the domestic oil industry and affect American jobs. It implies new relationships between government and domestic as well as foreign oil firms.

There may be reasons why the Arabian project should not wait until every aspect of a national oil policy can be clear. But it should not be undertaken without fuller public understanding of the immense implications it contains. The discussion it has aroused indicates it will not be.

SWEATING FOR HELL'S ANGLES

(Sgt. Folmer, 25, of Mansfield, O., crew chief of the Flying Fortress Hell's Angels, is one of the few enlisted men awarded the Legion of Merit in the European theater of operations. His ship had the almost incredible record of 300 combat hours and 48 missions. He has just returned to the United States with a representative ground-and-air crew picked from among those who flew and serviced the plane during its operational tour.)

By M. Sgt. FABIAN S. FOLMER
AP Features

For forty-eight mornings I stood at the edge of a runway and watched old Hell's Angels take off for Europe. For forty-eight afternoons I stood at the edge of a runway and watched her come back. Between times on those forty-eight days, I drank enough coffee to fill the tanks of Eighth Air Force bombers for a shuttle-raid, smoked so many cigarettes I created half a dozen fogs and had my heart in my throat so often I felt it had been planted there by mistake at birth.

I sweated out so many missions that I was about to get operational fatigue, waiting for them to come back. If you think it is easy sweating out a mission on the ground, just try it some time with an airplane you have worked, cursed, worried and lost sleep over.

Turn Night into Day

This sweating was the toughest thing about the forty-eight missions Hell's Angels made to France and Germany. The work was comparatively easy. Of course, we worked sometimes for fifty or sixty hours at a stretch. And, naturally, we worked in the middle of the night as well as the middle of the day. Sometimes we didn't get to chow. And all of us would be gray-haired if the army hadn't given us vitamins.

But the work was easy, compared to sweating them out. The sweating-out and the weather!

Develop Touch System

The toughest thing about grooming a Flying Fortress is not mechanical difficulties, but the weather. To understand English weather you have to get out some time about 4 a. m. with the wind whipping down from Iceland, the fog swirling around like smoke in a burning building, the temperature down to 40 or 50, and you without a fire to keep warm.

For months we worked on old Hell's Angels at night with flashlights. I got so I could change a sparkplug in the dark. In another six months I could have taken a B-17 apart and put it back together again blindfolded, the way they do with machine guns at training school.

Worse than darkness was the cold. To know what cold is you should dip your hands in a bucket of 100-octane gas and then change a sparkplug with the wind whipping around the cowling like the propwash from a B-17. Your hands get a little chilly. Of course, I am not saying it is as tough as it is in the air, because it isn't — but it isn't easy either.

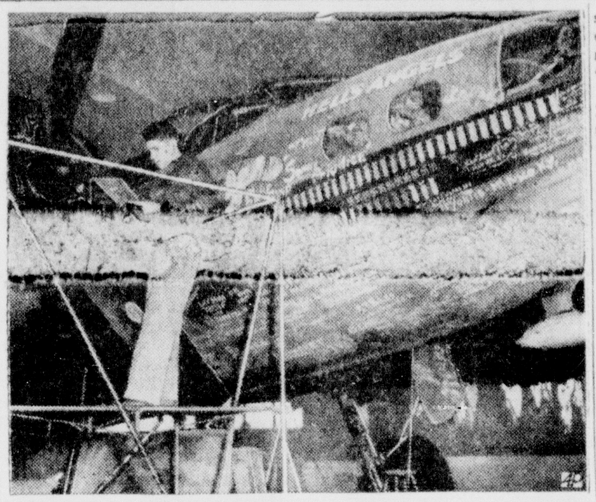

Just as we got ready to come home we were living in comparative luxury. We got a little pyramidal tent with what was officially described as a stove. We found that by pouring oil on the troubled hearth, we could raise the temperature in the tent to what seemed about 50 degrees below zero, which is quite warm for a pyramidal tent in England. This was a great improvement on the pup tents we had before.

Hard On Engines

But weather or no, lights or no, we managed in fifteen months to change sixteen engines, fourteen superchargers, three horizontal stabilizers, twelve oil coolers, three sets of landing gear, four tires, two tail wheels, five sets of brakes, eight supercharger regulators, four generators, over 2,000 sparkplugs, new radio equipment and nobody knows what else.

It was more than worth it, though. I had a fine crew of boys, a fine airplane to work on and, some of the best equipment in the world to work with. The guys who flew the plane were the best in the world and considerate of the ground crew. We worked together as a team, which is as it should be. While we changed sixteen engines they dropped a quarter of a million pounds of bombs, fired 72,000 rounds of caliber .50 ammunition and flew almost 300 combat hours. In all the plane has nearly 1,000 hours in the air.

It is a great airplane, Hell's Angels. But it is a greater one in our minds now that its new tires (the fourth set) and the tail wheels (its second) have touched down on the good old United States again. England was swell — the people, not the climate — but I would like to take the old ship out some time and change a couple of engines right by the Statue of Liberty, just for the hell of it.

OLD LADY—M. Sgt. Fabian S. Folmer lovingly takes pulse of bomber engine. Hell's Angels, which wore out sixteen engines in forty-eight combat missions over Europe, is now back in the United States.

It is estimated that every army inductee requires a minimum of one and a half fillings.

Dr. Sachs Sees America As Strongest Nation

Says Citizens Must Assume Responsibilities at Peace Table

America will emerge out of World War II by far the strongest and most influential nation in the world and with corresponding responsibilities, Dr. Leon Sachs, professor of Political Science at Johns Hopkins university, told members of the Women's Civic Club at the luncheon meeting yesterday afternoon at the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist church.

Dr. Sachs, speaking on "America's Destiny, A Challenge," deplored the lack of interest in the World Court and the League of Nations because America was not willing to assume responsibilities at the peace table. He said that he thought many people were against taking part in great world movements, because they are afraid America would cease to be a sovereign nation, of this he declared there was no danger.

The speaker stressed the fact that he believes law and order among nations should be the same as among smaller groups or individuals. Illustrating his point, he cited the need of a police force to keep order in a town or city and declared force must be used to keep peace.

Dr. Sachs speaking on the peace to come, warned that if America wishes to have any say in the peace, she must be willing to assume her responsibilities. She also has responsibilities from the humanitarian side, he said, and said the question is "how far we should go to help rebuild the world."

The speaker explained that isolationism has always been in America, croping out in different forms at different times and through people considered well versed in government affairs.

Mrs. Blanche Stanton Gunter, soprano, was the soloist with Mrs. Herbert Platt at the piano. Her selections include "Time for Making Songs," James H. Rogers: "Rain," Pearl Curran, and "This Is the Home That Jack Built."

Mrs. Thomas LeClear presided at the business session and appointed Mrs. A. N. Golladay, chairman of the nominating committee. Members serving with her are Mrs. George G. Young, Mrs. Julius Schindler, Mrs. Cyril M. Croft and Mrs. J. W. Holmes.

Mrs. Lloyd R. Meyers, War Activities chairman, reported on the Servicemen's lounge and asked for volunteers to serve as hostesses. Thirty-seven members volunteered. She announced that Mrs. Fred T. Small, Welfare chairman, appointed Mrs. Walter C. Capper, Woman's Civic club Hostess chairman.

Mrs. Harry Deal announced the American Home group would meet at 2 o'clock March 23 in the Potomac Edison lecture room with Miss Christine Ruehl as the speaker.

Mrs. Haydn Butler and Mrs. Fred Keyser were accepted as new members. Mrs. H. T. Robinson, Baltimore, past president of the club was presented and Mrs. H. Matthew Gault, Baltimore, chairman of Club Institutes of the Maryland Federation of Women's Clubs introduced Dr. Sachs. The invocation was offered by Mrs. George Young. Eighty-five members attended.

Income Tax Law Change Probable

Committee Votes For Easier System

WASHINGTON, March 16, (AP)—A plan to simplify the nation's income tax laws has been approved tentatively by the House Ways and Means committee, holding out the promise to some 30,000,000 of the 50,000,000 individual taxpayers that the return that must be in by this midnight will be the last they ever have to file.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) announced the committee action, but said details of the plan would not be announced until Friday, "because we've got to clear up several points yet."

However, on the basis of previous statements, it appeared the simplification bill might provide that:

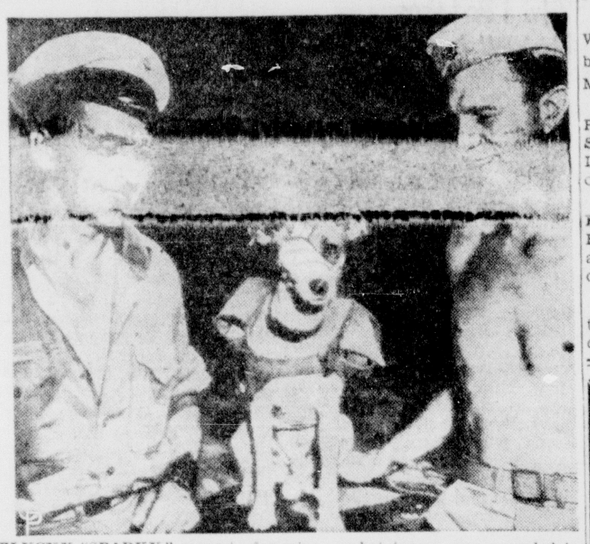

1. Some 30,000,000 persons making $5,000 or less won't have to file returns after this year, because the withholding levy against their wages and salaries will be made the actual tax.

2. The victory tax will be combined with the surtax and normal tax.

3. The burdens of all taxpayers under the simplified system of rates, exemptions and reductions will remain virtually at their present levels. Some 9,000,000 victory taxpayers with income not large enough to come under present regular incomes levies would be retained as income taxpayers at about their victory tax levels, it was indicated.

One important point was understood to be a "flat" system of family status exemptions, with $500 allowed each individual, instead of the present system of providing $500 for a single person, $1,200 for married couples and $350 for each child. Rates would be adjusted, it was indicated, to retain the overall burdens at about their present levels, under the new exemption system.

Facts About Cost Of City Government You Should Know

In Mayor Thomas F. Conlon's pamphlet he states that the cost of government in Hagerstown is more per person than in Cumberland. Let us examine the facts. The tax rates in the two cities for the last four years are compared as follows:

	Hagerstown	Cumberland
1941	.85	1.10
1942	.80	1.10
1943	.70	1.10
1944	.60	1.20

HAGERSTOWN RATE LOWEST SINCE 1913

We desire to quote from a news item in the Daily Mail, Hagerstown, Maryland, of December 23, 1943:

"The city tax rate for 1944 will be 60 cents, the lowest since 1913 at which time Hagerstown had none of its modern improvements. At a special meeting, this morning, of the Mayor and City Council the 1944 budget was approved.

"Although the city administration has a surplus of over three quarters of a million dollars laid back for the rainy days that are ahead," Mayor Richard H. Sweeney, in a statement, in which the members of the City Council join with him, said—"it is felt that the large debt of the City, which amounts to $4,500,000 precludes the borrowing of any money for any purpose, until that debt is materially reduced. So it is felt by the Mayor and Council who have cut your taxes in every year since 1941, that for 1944 they will pass on to the citizens a tax cut of 10 cents making the tax rate 60 cents and maintaining a strong surplus for expected loss in revenue and for public works for unemployment, and to cushion, as far as possible, the low rate for years to come."

"This 60 cent tax rate is the lowest since the 56 cent rate of 1913, before the city owned its own water system, before it had borrowed over $4,000,000 to construct a modern sewerage system, built its new electric light plant, in addition to paying for a new city hall, market house, its beautiful system of parks and numerous other improvements that have converted Hagerstown into the most beautiful and modern city of its size in the United States.

CONLON STATEMENTS ANSWERED

Now contrast the above with Mayor Thomas F. Conlon's statement concerning Hagerstown—and we quote from his pamphlet—"Cost of Government." He says:

"There is no way that any intelligent citizen can arrive at an honest criticism of any tax rate in Cumberland or elsewhere, by comparing tax rates." He then proceeds to use his own formula and as evidence in support of his claim, indicts the City of Hagerstown as follows: A "high assessable basis"—"exorbitant license fees"—"sewer rents"—"water frontages"—"no garbage removal by the city"—"a volunteer fire department"—"low paid policemen," etc. We are sure Mayor Richard H. Sweeney of Hagerstown will be astounded when he reads Mayor Conlon's pamphlet.

NOW FOR THE FACTS:

"Assessable Basis"—the average per person about the same as Cumberland.

"Exorbitant License Fees"—Hagerstown collected $14,767.16
Cumberland collected $20,227.80

"Sewer Rents"—Hagerstown collects a sewer rental and Cumberland does not.

"Water Frontages"—None in either Hagerstown or Cumberland.

"Garbarge Removal"—Hagerstown collects garbage only. No ashes.
Cumberland collects both.

"Volunteer Fire Department"—Hagerstown has a combination Fire Department—paid and volunteer. Cumberland is entirely paid.

"Low Paid Police"—The cost per thousand population about the same as Cumberland.

WE WILL NOW SUMBIT OUR FORMULA OF COST TO THE TAXPAYER, COMPARING HAGERSTOWN WITH CUMBERLAND

A Home Owned in	Assessable Basis	Taxes	Water Rental	Sewer Rental	Total
Hagerstown	$4,000.00	$24.00	$10.00	$10.00	$44.00
Cumberland	$4,000.00	$48.00	$18.00	None	$66.00

THOMAS S. POST, candidate for Mayor—HUNTER B. HELFRICH and JOSEPH R. REISSIG, candidates for Commissioners of Cumberland, believe the time has come to examine critically the cost of our city government and they believe the cost can be reduced.

Labor Unity Group Promises Support To Red Cross Drive

The Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference last evening adopted a resolution supporting the American Red Cross War Fund drive, reaffirmed its promise to assist with the Red Cross blood bank and took exception to results of the OPA price panel survey, Harry A. Porch, chairman, announced last evening.

Promises Full Support

In its resolution on the Red Cross drive which opens March 27, the conference promised full support and announced that the same labor committee will function in this campaign as in the recent National War Fund campaign.

Harry A. Porch will be chairman and Charles H. Stutzman, vice chairman, of the drive.

The conference also adopted a resolution promising aid in furnishing donors for the American Red Cross blood bank unit which will be brought here late in the spring.

Disputes Figures

Mrs. Delphia Parker, labor nominee on the OPA price panel and a member of the conference last evening took exception to the statement made by the chairman of the panel that there were thirty-five violations discovered in the sixty-five stores checked.

The figures, Mrs. Parker asserted, would indicate that there are over fifty per cent violations instead of over ninety per cent compliance with price control regulations.

Failure of the price panel to function, she asserted, is a contributing factor in the violations.

Battleship, the great jumping horse, which won the 1938 Grand National steeplechase in England, is represented among the 1944 Kentucky derby nominees by Navigate, owned by M. Andrew Cushman.

That sentence was appealed by Baker and when the appeal was heard in circuit court he pleaded guilty. Sentence was suspended by the court and he was paroled for two years on personal bond of $55 to keep the peace, be of good behavior, abstain from alcoholics and go to work and support his family.

He was born in Terra Alta, W. Va., September 19, 1887, a son of the late Marshall and Katherine Townshend Crane. His father died while Wellington was an infant and his mother when he was eighteen years old and he made his home with Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Naylor in Oakland for a number of years. He was in the insurance business in Hagerstown and had been in that city for the past fifteen years.

Mr. Crane was a veteran of World War I, entering the service as a first lieutenant of infantry, and later as captain, from August 29, 1918. He was with a supply unit at Fort Myer, Va., and was given an honorable discharge December 10, 1918.

He was married to Mary Chamberlain, Baltimore, who survives. Other near relatives are uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. Naylor, Robert Townshend, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Townshend, all of Oakland; and Mrs. Charles D. Smith, of Parsons, W. Va.

Services will be from the Naylor home with Rev. Minor Sprague, pastor of the Methodist church, officiating. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

Receive Commissions

Two former Oakland residents have received navy commissions. Kenneth Stahl, who has been alien property custodian in the United States Customs Service, located at Oakland, Calif., has entered the navy, having received a commission a few days ago as a lieutenant (j.g.) He is now in training in Arizona. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd C. Stahl, Oakland. His wife and daughter are returning to Mt. Lake Park to reside.

Carl O. McIntire, Washington, D. C., and son of Mrs. C. N. McIntire, Oakland, has gone into the service, having also received a navy commission as lieutenant (j. g.) His brother, John McIntire, also a lieutenant (j. g.) stationed at Norfolk, Va., was in Washington to swear him in and present him with his commission. He is now at Camp Schuyler, N. Y., for training.

Nurse Is Promoted

Miss Lillian Helbig, R. N., with the army nurse corps in the South Pacific area, has been promoted to the rank of first lieutenant, her mother, Mrs. Harry Helbig, and sister, Mrs. Hugh Teets, Oakland, have been informed.

To Give Flying Tests

Tech. Sgt. Clarence Biehn, army recruiter, will be in his office in the post office building until Monday evening to give Flying Cadet mental tests to youths who wish to qualify for the army air corps. Since the recent lifting of recruiting restrictions, men 17 to 26 may qualify, the recruiter said.

MYSTERY OF THE MILITARY SALUTE

No One Knows Exact Origin, Meaning of Gesture

By HENRY C. NICHOLAS
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Officers of the army and navy who are responsible for classifying the records of our armed services, so they can be quickly referred to by the general staff or by future historians, are faced with a puzzling mystery. They are unable to agree as to the origin or meaning of the military hand salute.

When a doughboy salutes an officer with a snappy lift of his hand to his forehead, does it signify he is paying a tribute to the dazzling beauty of that officer?

Or does it mean, as other officers think, that the doughboy intends to later give the officer "the works"?

You can read either answer from the historical origin of the military hand salute.

One explanation involves Good Queen Bess of Merrie Old England. In the Sixteenth century, we are told, Queen Elizabeth consented to award the prizes to some naval heroes.

FOUR STARS—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returns a soldier's salute.

"Dazzling Beauty"

The officers in charge of the arrangements issued orders that "on account of the dazzling loveliness of her majesty, all seamen upon receiving their prizes should shield their eyes with their right hand."

Another explanation is derived from the custom of the medieval knight before entering a tournament, of lifting his visor and showing his face. Then he would mount his trusty steed and endeavor to unhorse his opponent with a lance.

There is less uncertainty regarding the origin of other military customs. The neckerchief worn by sailors of most nations originally was a decorative tie for use in battle to bind wounds or as a tourniquet bandage. The neckerchief was in all colors until the death of British Admiral Horatio Nelson in the Battle of Trafalgar in 1805, when it was changed to black during the period of national mourning. The tie worn by the sailors of England and the United States has remained black ever since.

Alexander the Great, who at the age of 33 had run out of worlds to conquer, was the first to award medals for heroism in battle, more than 2,000 years ago.

The first military award was a golden button, and was given by Alexander to Jonathan, the high priest, for his services in leading the Jews in battle.

The Greeks liked the idea and later presented medals for exceptional bravery displayed in battle, instead of the laurel wreaths given their champion athletes in Olympic games.

The Scotch, who play the bagpipe when their troops march into battle, are indebted to the Irish who were in turn indebted to the Romans for this unusual instrument of war.

The early Romans carried the bagpipe to the countries of Europe and the British Isles. But only in ancient Ireland did it become popular.

The Irish called it their pion mor, or war pipe, and played it at their festivals. Denied a national army rebellious Irishmen left their homes and carried their war pipe to Scotland, which country adopted it as their trumpet of war.

Originally the salute of the British Navy consisted of seven guns fired in succession, that number being chosen because of its religious and mystical significance.

Storing gunpowder on land being less difficult than on board ship, the Army was permitted to fire a larger number of guns. It chose the 21-gun salute, which being three times seven was looked upon as another mystical number.

In 1875 the United States recognized officially 21 guns as both the international salute and the salute to the president.

We have another military salute of which few of us have heard. This is the salute to the Union and consists of one gun for each of the 48 states.

TRADITION—There are many stories behind military garb. The black ties worn by these U. S. Sailors date back to the death of Nelson.

HATFIELD COAL MINER CALLS WORLD'S TONIC THE MINER'S PAL

Bilious Spells, Headaches And All-In Feeling Relieved by Herbal Compound

MR. W. W. NORMAN

Hundreds and hundreds of coal miners have already tried the Famous World's Tonic with satisfactory results. One of the latest is Mr. W. W. Norman, 1203 Piedmont Rd., Charleston, W. Va., who is quoted by Mrs. Norman, as follows:

"In my opinion, World's Tonic is certainly the best pal a miner ever had. Occasional constipation had brought on so many ailments for me that I was in pretty bad shape. I kept getting up nights. I had bilious spells and headaches. My breath was bad and I was having a bad taste in my mouth. All these things were taking away my appetite and making me feel sluggish and tired.

"I am now a regular user of World's Tonic and what a splendid relief this medicine has brought for my constipation and the ailments it caused. No dizzy bilious spells with spots before my eyes. The bad breath and bad taste in my mouth are clearing up. The headaches left me. I don't get up at nights now because of disordered conditions and I seem to be just full of pep." (Note: Report of relief by delighted user of World's Tonic, to the extent that constipation may be a contributing cause.)

REMEMBER — World's Tonic offers laxative aid to young and old men and women. World's Tonic (Trade Name.) Not sold as a General Tonic but as a splendid laxative and stomachic.

Get World's Tonic at Ford, Keech, Peoples, Truitt, Cumberland Drug and all first class drug stores. Caution: Use only as directed.

Associated Press Writer Describes Sicily Tragedy

Tells How Allies Shot U. S. Planes

(Editors note: John A. Moroso III, Associated Press navy correspondent who was aboard an assault transport ship during the invasion of Sicily, witnessed the shooting down of American planes by British and American warships during the confusion heightened by German bombing attacks and described the tragic mixup — long sealed by censorship — in the following dispatch.)

By JOHN A. MOROSO III

LONDON, March 16 (AP)—Numerous American C-47s—transport and glider planes loaded with American paratroopers — were shot down during the opening stages of the Sicilian invasion last July by anti-aircraft fire from their own British and American warships. The barrages were apparently touched off by a Nazi ruse raid.

Censors now permit telling how the Germans raced in and bombed our ships just as our planes were flying over in the intense darkness of night.

Navy Announcement

(The army announced in Washington that twenty-three transport planes and 410 airborne infantry soldiers were lost on the night of July 10-11, 1943.)

The whole tragic incident is believed in retrospect to have been a Nazi trick. The German planes joined the flight formation in darkness and bombed the ships as they passed over.

There was a report, too, that some ships in the convoy — mainly shall landing craft — did not get a warning that friendly planes were approaching and that they opened fire before the bombing began.

Some anti-aircraft batteries also fired from shore.

Some Americans were able to bail out and were rescued from the sea.

Aboard the ships we had been informed that our transport planes were to fly over at a fixed time — flying at a specified height from a certain direction. We received a second warning as our planes approached, to make doubly sure the gun crews did not open fire.

Then Bombing Started

But suddenly from the blackness above bombs began screaming down around the ships. One ship captain reported "these friendly planes are dropping bombs on me" — and soon some ships in the convoy opened a barrage which lit the sky.

More than a dozen planes fell flaming into the sea — some our own, some the enemy's.

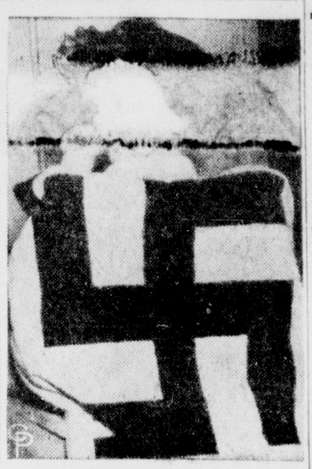

Naval authorities criticized our airforce at the time for flying transports over ships that were unloading at anchor. They said the planes should have been directed on a course that would have taken them out of the range of our guns.

Surviving aviators said they were puzzled by the order to fly over the convoy.

The army and navy operated under a joint command in this campaign while the airforce operated separately and some men blamed lack of co-ordination for the affair.

It should be pointed out that frequently in amphibious attacks or sea-air battles friendly planes are often shot down by our own people when they dive to attack enemy bombers.

A DEFINITE OPINION

ALTHOUGH she's only one year old, Linda Lee Phillips, of Chicago, knows how to show the proper disapproval of the flag of our enemy. The swastika souvenir was sent to her by her father, Pfc. Robert Phillips, who fought in North Africa and Sicily.

WLB Decision To Be Appealed

Time Magazine Opposes Guild

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP) — Time, Inc., announces that it will appeal to the National War Labor Board the decision of the New York Regional WLB requiring inclusion of a maintenance of membership clause in its contract with the New York Newspaper Guild (CIO).

Time, Inc., is the publisher of Time, Life and Fortune magazines.

"Your company regrets the issuance of this order because it objects to force any editorial employe to continue to belong to any organization," Roy E. Larsen, president of Time, Inc., said in a memorandum to the staff.

Larsen's Position

Larsen said the Guild seeks a condition whereby no editorial worker in the whole newsgathering industry can earn a livelihood in the industry "without maintaining his membership in good standing according to whatever union rules are in effect from time to time."

"The company considers it contrary to the best interests of a free press that any outside organization such as the Newspaper Guild should have the right to order so directly the dismissal of any of our editorial employes," he added.

The memorandum pointed out that maintenance of membership directive required no Time, Inc., staff member to join or to become reinstated in the Guild and that it allowed anyone who did not want to continue as a Guild member to withdraw from it by March 29.

Might Lose Jobs

Those who are members or who join or reaffiliate with the Guild after March 29 "must continue to maintain their good standing in the union for the duration of the contract or lose their jobs," the memorandum said.

The regional board's order, announced last night, was based on a general order by the national WLB March 4 that maintenance of membership in the newspaper industry would not constitute abridgment of freedom of the press nor violate the first amendment of the constitution.

Red Cross Drive In Frostburg To Be Discussed

Executive Board Will Meet Tonight To Make Campaign Plans

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Mar. 17—The Executive board of Frostburg chapter, American Red Cross, will meet Friday evening in the office of Rep. J. Glenn Beall to make plans for the Red Cross drive, scheduled to commence Monday, March 27.

It was announced today that the Frostburg drive will be in charge of a general committee, consisting of Mrs. Edward J. Ryan, Mrs. Ralph M. Race, Mrs. Amer Suter, Mrs. Walter Jeffries, Mrs. Ada Dillon and Mrs. Julius Abramson. This is the same committee that had charge of the drive last year.

An official of the local Red Cross group announced today that Frostburg's quota for the forthcoming drive is $9,052.00, and that, in order to reach the goal it will be necessary for each person in the community to double the amount contributed last year.

It is also planned to have the same group of canvassers, who did such splendid work last year, in the house-to-house appeal, carry on the work this year. The community is to be divided into districts or zones and a special effort will be made to reach every person.

So many local families with boys in the service throughout the world have been aided during the past year, according to Red Cross workers, that it will be unnecessary in many cases to explain the great comfort the organization is to soldiers and sailors in sickness or other trouble. The Frostburg chapter has received letters from servicemen overseas on every front, telling of the great work the Red Cross is doing and urging friends and relatives to support the drive for funds, so the organization may be able to keep up its good work at home and abroad.

The office of Rep. Beall, located in the Gunter hotel building, has been secured as headquarters for the drive and, commencing Monday, March 27, Red Cross workers will be at headquarters to receive donations and perform other tasks in connection with the soliciting campaign.

Nine Candidates Oppose Tydings For Nomination

resident of Baltimore, thus became the fifth person to seek the Democratic nomination.

Most political observers foresaw no great difficulty for Tydings, at least in the primary. Tydings is now serving his third term in the Senate, having been the target of an unsuccessful "purge" campaign by President Roosevelt six years ago.

2. Daniel F. McMullen, Cumberland lawyer and newspaper official, became the first Democrat to file in the Sixth congressional district. Rep. J. Glenn Beall (D-Md) was unopposed in the Republican primary late today.

Peddicord Trying Again

One other aspirant for the Democratic senatorial nomination filed today. He was Stephen B. Peddicord, who once ran for the governorship and did not receive a single vote.

The only woman in the entire picture was Miss Mary E. W. Risteau of Jarrettsville, who with two men opposed Rep. H. Streett Baldwin (D-Md) for the Democratic nomination in the second district.

Seeking the right to oppose Tydings—if he is renominated—in the November general election were three Republicans. They were Paul Robertson and Blanchard Randall, Jr., both of Baltimore, and Rives Matthews of Princess Anne.

Randall Will Be Supported

Randall claimed the support of Galen L. Tait, state central committee chairman, and of Theodore R. McKeldin, mayor of Baltimore, the titular heads of the Republican party.

Robertson is chairman of the Baltimore City Central committee, and Matthews is the weekly newspaper publisher who first received wide recognition when he accused State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes of mis-using gasoline alloted him for official use.

Tawes subsequently was deprived of his personal gasoline ration for a year and Matthews was indicted on a criminal libel charge—an indictment which is still pending.

Another man who filed today was Edwin A. Glenn of Morningside village, seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress against Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer (D-Md) in the Fifth district.

Glenn had filed about a week ago in the Republican primary, but Attorney General William C. Walsh ruled out his petition on the grounds that Glenn was a registered Democrat.

Late today, the only incumbents who were unopposed for renomination in the primary were Reps. Daniel Ellison (R-Md) of the fourth district, and Beall, of the sixth.

Unopposed for nominations, in addition to Ellison and Beall, were State Senator Wilmer Fell Davis, First district Republican; John W. Benson, Third district Republican; and McMullen.

Twelve Second

formed the feat of dashing from eighth place into the "big four" over a period of thirty-years in which primary elections were held in Cumberland. In 1942 it marked the first time that Cumberland was without a primary contest.

In 1940, James Orr, who led the ticket in the recent primary, was fifth in the preliminary contest 139 votes behind Joseph M. Fradiska but on election day he wound up in fourth place while Fradiska was fifth 604 votes in the rear.

Two years previously, Harry Irvine was sixth in the primary 220 votes below Joseph H. Griffin, the fourth place man. In the finals Irvine was fourth by 115 votes over Griffin who dropped to sixth position.

Joseph H. Trachina took out Harry W. Matheney by one vote to cop fourth place in the 1936 primary but Matheney won out over Fradiska in the general election by 478 ballots.

"Buck" Eliminates "Buck"

Edgar "Buck" Reynolds made his debut in 1934 and ran sixth in the primary 570 votes behind Randolph "Buck" Wishmyer in fourth position. Two weeks later Reynolds was in fourth place by 102 votes over Wishmyer, who finished fifth.

In 1932 George W. Legge was fourth in the primary by 243 votes over Wishmyer in sixth place but the latter climbed to third in the finals 156 votes over Legge who was two places below the first four.

Harry Irvine emerged the winner in another close battle in 1924. He was fifth in the primary 140 votes back of Cumiskey in third position. On election day Irvine trotted into third place and Cumiskey took Harry's former place.

The late Harry L. Smith skooted from sixth in the primary to third in the general in 1918, eliminating Joseph S. Shriver while in 1915 Shriver, sixth in the first contest, moved into second place in the general, knocking Harry L. Smith out of the race, proving that a turn about is fair play.

Way back in 1910 when there were twenty-nine candidates for council and seven in the running for mayor, Harry L. Smith, leaped from fifth place in the preliminary to first place on the final day.

Mayoralty Upsets Noted

There was no primary contest for mayor this year but past history reveals several stunning upsets in races for this office. For instance, in 1938, Dr. Thomas W. Koon, seeking the nomination for the eleventh time, in a four-man primary, was topped by Harry Matheney by the margin of 351 votes. Koon, however, went on a rampage two weeks later and was elected by 1,544 votes.

The doctor, however, was the victim of an upset in 1934. He walloped Legge by 1,355 votes in the primary and then bowed to George when the latter was elected mayor by 90 votes.

In the long history of city elections only once did a woman enter a race and that was in 1924 when Mrs. Hartzell tried her luck—but it was bad.

13 Indictments Are Returned By Grand Jury

Tribute Is Paid to Chief Judge Sloan by Garrett Jurors

By GEORGE HANST

OAKLAND, March 16—The grand jury for the March term of court adjourned yesterday after having examined thirty-seven witnesses and returning thirteen indictments. The jurors were in session from Monday morning with Alonzo D. Naylor acting as foreman, and George Z. Dawson and Gordon J. Callis clerks.

Neil C. Fraley, state's attorney, declared that a number of juvenile delinquency matters of importance were discussed by the grand jurors and several witnesses questioned. He said, other than these cases, the indictments covered the usual "run-of-mine" infractions of the statutes.

The criminal docket will be called Monday morning, March 20, at 10 o'clock, with Chief Judge D. Lindley Sloan on the bench, for his final time, with possibly either Associate Judge William A. Huster or Associate Judge Joseph D. Mish.

The grand jury in its report, noted "with much regret that Chief Judge Sloan, will retire from the Bench early in April because of reaching the retirement age. We feel that we are expressing the sentiments of the citizens of Garrett county in stating that he has served the people of this county and the circuit ably and with distinction and we wish him many years of comfort and happiness."

Following the examination of the court house, jail and sheriff's residence the jurors made a number of recommendations in their detailed report concerning improvements and repairs.

This included floors at the sheriff's residence, grill and iron work in the cat walk in the jail, metal work on the roof of jail and sheriff's residence, scraped and repainted, broken slate replaced, stone work on jail repointed.

The grand jury, the same as those for the past several years, also recommended to the county commissioners that a garage be provided for the use of the sheriff's automobiles. Prior to adjourning the jurors visited all offices in the court house and declared they found the records in neat and orderly manner.

Army Flier Safe In Bomber Crash; 4 Men Missing

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA, March 16 — (Canadian Press) First Lt. Leon Crane, 24, Philadelphia, reached this far northern town today after eighty-four days in the sub-Artic wilds and brought with him first word of the fate of a United States bomber missing with five men aboard since December 21.

The other four, still missing, are:

Second Lt. Harold E. Hoskins, pilot, Houlton, Me.

First Lt. James B. Sibert, Technician, Norfolk, Va.

Staff Sgt. Ralph S. Wenz, assistant crew chief, Pinedale, Wyo.

Families Notified

Their families were notified of their disappearance soon after the plane failed to return. They were members of the United States air transport command.

Crane said they bailed out of the Liberator bomber when it went into a spin between 10,000 and 15,000 feet.

The first nine days, he related, he had no food and spent most of the time huddling in the folds of his parachute to keep from freezing to death. Eventually he reached an unoccupied cabin, stocked with food, the temperatures ranged from thirty to forty below zero.

Rescued by Trapper

After living a solitary existence in the Yukon river valley until the first week of March, he met Albert Ames, a trapper, who guided him to Woodchopper, Alaska, a tiny mining camp where he waited for arrival of the mail plane piloted by Bob Rice of the Alaska Airlines.

"Bob flew me home to Ladd field (Fairbanks) and I was sure glad to get back to civilization," he said. "There were times when I thought I'd never make it."

He telephoned his parents in Philadelphia and said "they both just sputtered at each other when they heard my voice."

"I saw only Sgt. Pompeo's chute open. The ship caught fire at about 5,000 feet and I heard it explode when it hit the ground." He did not see any of his mates after he hit the ground.

$80 Paid for U. S. Batteries Nets Buyer $20,000

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP) — Demanding open market sales of surplus government property, Rep. Cochran (D-Mo) said today a government employe had purchased two lots of over-age dry cell batteries from the army, one for $15 and one for $65, and part of them were resold later for $20,000.

Cochran told the House a preliminary investigation by the army showed no fraud or collusion, but that regulations governing sale and disposal of salvaged army property were being tightened.

The Missourian gave the House this account:

The batteries, all over age and unsuitable for military use, were received at the Ogden, Utah, army depot at various times last year. J. W. Harbertson, a civilian employe, asked permission to buy some of them which were about to be destroyed.

The salvage officer obtained authority from the Ninth Service Command headquarters and Harbertson bought 27,000 for $15 and later purchased 23,587 for $65. W. W. Grethe of Bountiful, Utah, bought 42,646 for $50.

Jake Hayutin and Sons, Denver, Colo., bought some of the batteries for $20,000 from James M. Harbertson, Ogden, brother of the army depot employe.

Others previously had been sold but the number and the amount paid has not been determined.

Cochran couldn't learn the disposition of the batteries purchased by Grethe.

Pharmacists Held For Selling Drugs To Aid Draft Dodgers

LOS ANGELES, March 16 (AP)— The sheriff's office disclosed today that more than forty men, most of them pharmacists, have been arrested in connection with the sale of drugs which enable army draftees to evade induction.

State and army officials conferred today with Sheriff Eugene Biscailuz on plans to halt the sale of the drug, which army men said causes apparent mental and physical unfitness for military service on the part of men taking it.

Pharmacists arrested for its sale are being charged with dispensing it without a prescription.

60 Miners Marooned By Heavy Snowfall

OURAY, Colo., March 16 (AP) — Sixty miners, with only forty-five dozen eggs to eat, have been snowbound since Monday at the Treasury Tunnel mine near Red Mountain pass in Southwestern Colorado.

The heaviest snowfall in years blocked the road over which the men usually drive twelve miles to their homes in Ouray each night.

Beverly Spencer, Ouray newspaperman, said the men were staying in quarters at the mine and that some of them would attempt to reach Ouray tomorrow on snowshoes to take back food on toboggans.

The miners, Spencer reported, had no canned goods, meat, bread or fresh milk.

The mine, a property of the Sunshine Mining Company of Idaho, is near the top of 11,000-foot Red Mountain pass. It produces lead, zinc, copper and some gold.

During the past 15 years, the international air transport system has marked up over 200,000,000 miles of international flying, most of it overseas.

See your Doctor . . . then call on us

• You aren't exactly sick, you insist—and yet you are not really well. Let's call it a condition of "half-way health." And right now, when there's a world at war, and every ounce of productive effort is sorely needed, any illness is a luxury that none of us can possibly afford!

Why don't you take a practical, common-sense step now to get well—really well. Go call on a good medical Doctor. Give him all the facts; let him prescribe for you.

Yes, of course, when you have the Doctor's prescription, we'll gladly compound it for you—expertly. That is our business, you know!

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Quadruplets Born To Argentine Couple

BUENOS AIRES, March 16 (AP)—Quadruplets were born in a hospital here today to Senora Celio Giachino De Angiulli even while questions persisted as the authenticity of the previously reported Diligenti quintuplets.

Senora Angiulli and all four babies, two boys and two girls, were reported in good health. The weight of the infants ranged from two pounds and four ounces to two pounds and twelve ounces.

Meanwhile a search of vital statistics failed to show any registration of the birth of quintuplets here, although Argentine law makes parents responsible for registration of births within three days after the event. The five babies of Senora Franvo Diligenti now are reported eight months ago.

KITTY THE TROUBLE-SHOOTER

WHEN engineers at the Grand Coulee dam in Washington were faced with the problem of stringing a cable through a 500-foot long drain pipe, this cat solved the dilemma. A string was tied to its tail and a blast of air shot at its hind quarters. It sped through the long drain pipe. The string was tied to a rope, which was fastened to the cable, and in this manner the job was completed in jig time.

Death of Rep. O'Leary Reduces Democratic House Membership

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Democratic House membership fell to the lowest point since President Roosevelt took office in 1933 with the death today in New York of Representative James A. O'Leary of the Eleventh New York district.

It cut the party's house strength to 216 seats, including the one to be filled next week when Representative-Elect Andrews of Alabama is to be sworn in. That is only six more than the Republicans will have when Representative-Elect Gillespie of Colorado takes office.

There are five vacancies and four seats held by minor-party representatives.

Of the five seats to be filled by special elections, four were vacated by Democrats and one by a Republican.

The vacancies are one in Oklahoma and two each in New York and Illinois. In eleven special elections held during the Seventy-eighth Congress Republicans have won eight and Democrats three, a net gain of two seats for the Republicans.

O'Conor Explains Soldier Vote Law

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 16 (AP)—Maryland's new soldier vote law authorizes the use of supplementary federal ballots, Governor O'Conor informed President Roosevelt today in answer to the chief executive's inquiry.

In a telegram to the president, the governor explained that the new law "not only permits counting of soldier votes if cast in accordance with the act of Congress, but also validates a federal application for ballots by service forces and authorizes the state to use information on the federal ballot for purposes of registration of soldiers and sailors."

The Maryland law, adopted at the special legislative session last week, "is in accordance with the joint memorandum of Secretaries Stimson and Knox and conforms to the bulletin of the Council of State governments," O'Conor's message said.

"Everything possible at state level to insure the widest participation of service forces is incorporated in our statute, thus maintaining state sovereignty."

LONDON, March 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill today dared critics of the Atlantic Charter policy to test the government's strength with a vote of confidence in Commons.

Churchill declared confidently that if they wished to call for a censure vote, he was ready to take up the challenge at any time.

The issue was originally raised in a motion signed by seventy members of Commons, asking debate to determine whether recent statements of Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden suggesting Polish territorial adjustments to meet Russian demands reflected abandonment of the principles of the Atlantic Charter.

"Although this motion is not sponsored by any organized political party," said Churchill, taking up the issue quickly, "nevertheless it is couched in hostile terms, is signed by seventy members and wears the aspect of a vote of censure."

Experienced parliamentary observers doubted that the motion's backers would carry their move to a censure vote.

Rhys Davies, Labor party member for Lancashire, led the request for debate on the recent Churchill-Eden policies, mentioning "considerable disquiet both in this country and America" over the Atlantic Charter.

Outright opposition to the Atlantic Charter itself was also voiced in the legislative chamber when Maurice Petherick, member for Cornwall, asked if Churchill "was aware that the desire for debate is not confined to Mr. Rhys Davies and those who think as he does; it is also shared by those who maintain the Atlantic Charter, where it is not platitudinous, contains principles which are highly dangerous to the British and Allied causes?"

"It is rather late in the day to begin these sweeping condemnations of the Atlantic charter, which at the time seemed to receive a cordial welcome generally," Churchill fired back.

Seven American planes, three British types, one German aircraft and one Italian torpedo plane comprise the list of the world's best airplanes published in the London Sunday Times.

James Cagney Stars In 'Frisco Kid'

James Cagney is starred in the thrilling story of Warner Bros.' "Frisco Kid," now at the Liberty theater. The film tells of the colorful but lawless Barbary Coast of old San Francisco where the vigilantes took the law into their own hands and the underworld ran openly in defiance of decency.

James Cagney as Bat Morgan is one of the many taken in by the tumultuous gold rush days when adventurers from all over the world came to 'Frisco's waterfront. Bat, an ignorant, crude sailor but a man of tremendous force, arrives in San Francisco only to be robbed of the little he had. Deciding that the only way to get ahead is to play along with the leaders of the underworld, he rises to be master of the coast and falls in love with the most beautiful and most respected girl in San Francisco.

Charles Starrett Opens at Garden

The co-feature at the Garden today is a comedy, "Petticoat Larceny", starring Walter Reed, Ruth Warrick and Joan Carroll.

Irene Dunne Stars In Film at Maryland

Irene Dunne admits she's dizzy!

She literally spent a day in a whirl. From nine in the morning until six at night she was whirled and whirled and whirled — in the arms of Van Johnson.

It was a scene for "A Guy Named Joe," her first M-G-M film with Spencer Tracy as her co-star. This, however, was one scene in which Tracy was merely an onlooker, albeit an amused one.

Exuberant because in the film's story he has been promoted to a Captain in the Air Force, Van, in love with Miss Dunne, rushes into the scene, sweeps her off the floor, into his arms, and whirls her around the room.

Including rehearsals, long shots and close-ups, Tracy clocked his lovely co-star in exactly 127 spins!

The film is now at the Maryland theater.

Roosevelt Interested In Virgin Islands

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—Governor Charles Harwood of the Virgin islands saw President Roosevelt today and said he told the chief executive he was running into his fourth year there as the president was running into a fourth term and that Mr. Roosevelt said: "How's the rum down there?"

Grinning, Harwood told reporters they could guess as well as he the meaning of the presidential reaction.

Thirteen Starve, Fourteen Eat

LONDON (AP) — Thirteen Alabama men stood in the lobby of the American Red Cross Mostyn Club recently waiting for a fourteenth to show up and break the spell of the unlucky number. Meanwhile, the club chef was virtually sobbing over what he was sure would happen to his especially cooked dinner if the boys didn't sit down to it right away.

No wonder, then, that everybody whooped it up for Sergeant Harry H. Hanlin, of Sheffield, when he arrived to take the curse off the party.

"It was a moment I'll never forget," Hanlin said. "Never have I made an entrance so dramatic."

Double Wedding On the Double

LINCOLN, Me. (AP) — Two sisters, realizing wartime train schedules wouldn't permit them their scheduled double wedding at home and time to get back to Portland the same night with their bridegrooms, boarded a train, found a minister among the passengers and were married in a coach compartment with passengers and train crew attending.

The brides, Charlotte Grace and Gertrude Hazel Lyons, were united respectively to Horace White of Lincoln and Fred W. Curtis, United States Navy. The Rev. H. P. Taylor of Danforth, Me., obliged with the knots.

Hotel managements have been directed by the government to keep a certain percentage of their rooms open for transients, so newcomers who can't find permanent living quarters trek from hotel to hotel after a four-day stay.

WMI Loop Stars To Play LaSalle Cagers Tonight

Explorers To End Post-Season Schedule of Tourney Tuneup Games

The LaSalle High Explorers, who will leave early next week for Newport, R. I., where they will compete in the Eastern States Catholic invitation basketball tournament starting next Thursday, will bring their post-season schedule of tourney tuneup games to a close tonight by meeting the Western Maryland Interscholastic League all-stars at 8 o'clock on the SS. Peter and Paul school floor.

Since ringing down the curtain on their regular campaign, the Explorers have appeared in two post-season contests, bowing to the Morgantown (W. Va.) Collegians, who had three West Virginia university starters in their lineup, and topping Allegany-Fort Hill quints, 41-37, in an extra period. The Blue and Gold won twenty-five games and dropped three during the regular season.

The WMI League all-stars, chosen by coaches of the six teams in the circuit, will be directed by Mel "Newt" Henry, football coach at Fort Hill and the Central high cage mentor last year.

Four of the five boys named to the WMI all-star team appeared in Allegany or Fort Hill uniforms earlier this week when LaSalle tangled with the two local outfits. They are Jim Macfarlane, Bob Spangler and John Cox, of Allegany, and Don "Bubbles" Whiteman, of Fort Hill. The other member of the first team is "Auggie" Eichhorn, Central high center who led the league in scoring.

On the second WMI all-star team are Lou Skidmore, Glenn Hanna and Francis Cosgrove, of the Beall High Mountaineers; Vic Cueva, of Bruce high, and Dick McCoy, of Fort Hill.

Tonight's skirmish will be refereed by Cliff Fearer and will follow a preliminary at 7 o'clock between the LaSalle High Reserves and the North End five.

Connie Mack Says Lively Ball Is Back

FREDERICK, Md., March 16 (AP)—Connie Mack watched a two-hour workout of his Philadelphia Athletics in the batting cage today and then announced that the lively ball is back.

Mack beamed approval as Catcher Frank Hayes walloped two in a row over the 348-foot left field wall and said:

"Listen to the ring when the bat connects. They've improved the ball a lot since last year. We'll see more hitting this year—more drives for extra bases, more home runs, more scoring. I think the fans will like it."

A new arrival in camp today was Georgie Kell, who punished Interstate League pitching for a .396 average last year.

Lindell, Stainback Agree to Yanks' Terms

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 16 (AP)—Outfielders Johnny Lindell and George (Tuck) Stainback agreed to contract terms with the Yankees in New York and has left for the Yanks' training camp here, Manager Joe McCarthy announced. Their signing brought the number of Yankees under contract to twenty-two, of whom fourteen were in uniform today for an outdoor workout.

Arky Vaughn Listed As Doubtful Starter

BEAR MOUNTAIN, N. Y., March 16. (AP)—Infielder Arky Vaughn remains on the Brooklyn Dodgers' doubtful list due to complications of farm help and health and Mickey Owen will split his time between farming and catching. Those were the major developments today as President Branch Rickey held his first press conference of the Bear Mountain training season.

In discussing the status of Vaughn, a key man in the Dodgers' infield, Rickey said he has not received an answer to his most recent letter but is "inclined to believe he'll play."

Owen, the deacon revealed, has been given permissoin to take frequent leaves of absence to supervise his Brookline, Mo., farm during the season.

48 Young Boxers Will Compete in Tourney

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 16 (AP)—Forty-eight young boxers from Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia will compete in the seventeenth annual South Atlantic prepartory and high school boxing tournament at the University of Maryland tomorrow and Saturday.

Charlotte Hall, host school, announced the entry of Massanutten Military Academy, Clifton Forge, Miller, Fairfax and Warren high schools of Virginia. Charleston (W. Va.) high school put in its bid late today.

Under the direction of Cap. S. W. Ehringer, athletic director at Charlotte Hall, first round and quarter-finals will be staged on Friday night, semi-finals Saturday afternoon, and the finals Saturday night.

Dutch Leonard of the Washington Senators, now training at the U. of Md., will present the trophies.

Red Sox Pitcher Quits Baseball

BOSTON, March 16 (AP) — The Boston Red Sox announced today that Dick Newsome, right-handed pitcher, had sent word he was through with baseball.

Newsome, who had a bad year last season, winning eight and losing thirteen games, gave no reason for his decision, a Red Sox spokesman said.

He was to take his army physical examination at Ahoskie, N. C., in a few days, the spokesman added, but said flatly that, even if he were rejected, he would not play ball again.

Pirates Lose Services Of Star Infielder

MUNCIE, Ind., March 16 (AP)—Manager Frankie Frisch said the Pittsburgh Pirates today lost the services of infielder Pete Coscarart, who wired he has decided to stay on his defense job in Escondido, Calif.

Coscarart, only basque in the big leagues, played short and second last year. He batted .242 for the season.

Lefebvre Will Not Play Ball This Year

COLLEGE PARK, Md., March 16 (AP) — The Washington Senators pinned their portside pitching hopes today on Milton (Mickey) Haefner, with Wilfred Lefebvre sticking to his New England defense job instead of returning to baseball.

As balmy weather helped the Senators get the winter kinks out, Haefner, the 31-year-old coal miner from New Athens, Ill., was coming along smoothly in his conditioning work this year. An effective pitcher last year, he came to the Senators from Minneapolis of the American Association.

If Harlond Clift fails to show up as infielder, Outfielder Jake Powell would like a chance at the hot spot. He's had a few trys at it already.

INTRODUCING: PUKKA GIN---DERBY FAVORITE

By WALTER L. JOHNS
Central Press Sports Editor

Although twelve other nominees for the 1944 Kentucky Derby bettered his two-year-old record, Pukka Gin, Lieut. Col. Cornelius Whitney's crack colt, has been installed the winter book favorite for the run for the roses at Churchill Downs, May 6.

That's if there is such a thing as a favorite for what is expected to be a wide open affair.

Pukka Gin, a brown colt by Firethorn-Crauneen, by St. Germans, now is back in the east, prepping for the Jamaica, N. Y., Wood Memorial stake in April, famed as an early test for three-years-olds and widely considered a worthy tune-up event for a line on Derby candidates.

Pukka Gin, whose name was suggested by "Sonny" Whitney's service in Africa and India, has been training through the winter at Fair Grounds race track in New Orleans under the guidance of Lydell T. Ruff.

According to reports from New Orleans, Pukka Gin wintered well and has filled out. He should be ready for all comers by mid-April.

He made his first start in a five and one-half furlong sprint and went to the post the 6-5 favorite. On a sloppy track he finished second to Harriet Sue, which went on to become a consistent winner. (She won eight out of 14.)

In his next start, he went off at 13 to 5 and won a three-quarter allowance race by two lengths.

He campaigned at Washington Park for several weeks and then was taken to Belmont Park where he won a three-quarter sprint in 1:10 1-5, beating, among others, Dustman, Professor Lee and Stir Up. The last named, you may recall, was the recent winner of the Flamingo Stakes in Florida.

Pukka Gin wasn't entered in the Futurity but a week later he was an entry in the Champagne Stakes, winning this event and beating Pensive, Platter, Eternity and Occupy, other well-regarded two-year-olds.

In his last start of the year, Pukka Gin finished second to Weyanoke and again beat Platter in the Ardsley Handicap. In this race he carried 126 pounds to the 108 put on Weyanoke.

Pukka Gin's 1943 record was five wins and three seconds in thirteen starts. He won $17,500. Another possible Whitney candidate in the Derby among the four entered is Hoodoo, which finished in the money in seven out of eleven starts.

If Whitney has a winner in the Derby in Pukka Gin or one of his other colts he will be enjoying his first Derby winner. His father, Harry P. Whitney, had two Derby winners, scoring with Whiskery, a $2.40 to $1 shot in 1927 and with Regret, only filly ever to cop the event, in 1915. Regret went off at $2.65 to $1.

Fitzsimmons Is Back in Kentucky Derby Picture

Free Lance Is Kind of a Horse He Likes To Develop

By ORLO ROBERTSON

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons once again has thrown his hat into the ring—a fact that could cause trouble for other horsemen on Kentucky Derby day at Churchill Downs, May 6.

True, the sage of Sheepshead bay, who'll be 70-years-old in July hasn't any such derby candidate as Gallant Fox, Omaha and Johnstown—the trio on which he tightened the cinch before they went out to win the mile and one-quarter classic.

Bpt in Free Lance from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley stable, the veteran trainer has the kind of a horse that he likes to develop into a top ranking three-year-old. Sired by Sir Gallahad III out of Nile Maiden, Free Lance is bred to run over a distance of ground.

As a two-ear-old the Wheatley colt won only one of his thirteen starts, but he was second on five occasions and third in four other efforts and nearly always was pounding from behind in the final drive for the wire. His longest race was a seven-furlong dash in his last start of the year, when he was beaten a length by the Mill River stable's Derby candidate, Sweeping Time.

Look back over the great three-year-olds developed bqy Sunny Jim and you'll find that most of them were the same type of runners as juveniles.

Mr. Fitz had Free Lance out on the Aqueduct track today for the first time this season and was all smiles as the colt galloped around the oval.

"He was beaten by some of the best two-year-olds last year," said Sunny Jim, "but there was not much class to the 1943 juveniles and I look for a wide open race for three-year-old honors.

Beau Jack Placed In 1-A by Draft Board

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 16 (AP) — Beau Jack, the Augusta bootblack who fought his way to a brief tenure as world lightweight champion (New York version) was reclassified 1-A by his draft board today.

The board announced the change in Jack's status under his true name, Sidney Walker. The fighter is married and has three children.

Merv Shea Praises Players Acquired By Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 16 (AP)—Merv Shea, veteran big league catcher who managed Portland in the Pacific Coast League last season, checked in with the Phillies-Jays as a coach today and brought cheering news to General Manager Herb Pennock about three players whom the Jays have acquired for 1944.

Infielder Ford Mullen, from Seattle, is "a corking hitter, tough for any pitcher to fool," said Shea. He described pitcher Charley Schanz, coming from San Diego, as "in fine shape, ready to step into a ball game immediately," and said Hurler Ken Raffensberger, from Los Angeles, "had a good year and will do all right here, too."

The term grand opera was first introduced in France in 1820.

Braden Honored

Lieut. (jg) Dave Braden, brilliant guard on Marquette university's 1937-39 football teams and a navy dive bomber pilot, has been awarded the air medal for "meritorious achievement" in the sinking of two Jap ships in the Solomons area.

In the ancient Roman calendar, April was the second month of the year.

Davioff-Walker Fight May Draw $100,000 Gate

Crowd of 17,000 Is Expected To See Battle in Garden Tonight

By FRITZ HOWELL

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Abraham Davioff and Sidney Walker, for their St. Patrick's day ten-rounder in Madison Square Garden, will attract some 17,000 fans and a $100,000 gate.

Which isn't odd, when you consider Abraham is better known as Al (Bummy) Davis, the Brooklyn boy with the lethal left and Sidney is known to one and all as Beau Jack of Augusta, Ga., the Garden's greatest drawing card, outside of the heavyweight ranks, for the last decade.

Beau, the ex-bootblack, has had eleven main-go scraps in the Garden, and the total receipts of $814,654 figure out to an average of $74,059 per bout. Henry Armstrong, next best among the little guys, drew $488,297 for nine heats, an average of $54,255.

Only twice in recent years has the Garden drawn over $100,000 for a lightweight contest, and Beau was a principal in both, against Armstrong and Bob Montgomery.

Two weeks ago Montgomery, of Philadelphia, outpointed the Beau to win the New York version of the lightweight crown. Two weeks before that, Davis handed Montgomery the first knockout of his career, in sixty-three seconds. Davis, boasting one of the most potent left hands in the business, disposed of Buster Beaupre in ninty-eight seconds in his last outing before he blasted Montgomery, his kayo punch compressing twenty scheduled rounds into two minutes and forty-one seconds.

Beau Jack never has been knocked out, and he's a slight favorite to outbox Davis in the Shamrock day spree. But the Jacobs' Beach boys say the Beau has never been in there with anyone who punches as hard as the Brooklyn boy—and Davis says he will win by a kayo.

Beau Jack is expected to give away about five pounds, with Davis weighing around 142 to the Beau's 137.

Friday's bout will be the thirteenth in the Garden for Davis—if that "Friday-thirteenth" jinx means anything. In the previous dozen, Davis won nine, five by knockouts, finished even in one, lost to Lou Ambers and was disqualified against Fritzie Zivic.

If he wins this one, Davis plans to scale down to the 135-pound limit and go after the lightweight title.

HIGH HOPES FOR THIS ROOKIE

STEVE O'NEILL, manager of the Detroit Tigers, runs a professional eye over the 6-foot 11-inch frame of Ralph Siewert, 20, of Mount Clemens, Mich., tallest of the 1944 crop of rookies. The youngster, a pitcher, is attending the baseball school conducted by the Tigers at their Evansville, Ind., spring training camp. Possessed of a stout arm, it is doubtful, however, that Siewart, because of his great height, can be taught to field his position properly.

The Davis-Beau Jack Problem

There will be no Benny Leonard facing a Joe Gans when Bummy Davis meets Beau Jack at Madison Square Garden tonight, but there are at least certain elements that should make it an interesting contest, apart from the ten percent that is going to the Red Cross.

I still believe fifty percent would have been the proper figure, but it isn't my money that I am trying to give away.

The interesting angle of this Davis-Beau Jack meeting isn't connected directly with any matching of skill and science.

It is largely a matter concerning a dangerous puncher facing an elusive, bounding target who can take a punch well enough but who can't offer a punch in return. Davis can hurt— Beau Jack can move around and become highly annoying.

Here is another odd feature. Davis wrecked Bob Montgomery in 63 seconds. Bob Montgomery beat Beau Jack, making it two out of three. Yet Beau Jack is given about an even chance to win from Davis, who still remains an unknown quantity outside of the one devastating left hand he planted on Montgomery's wide open frontispiece.

Along Jacobs beach I have found more than a few who believe Davis will stop Beau Jack in less than four rounds, with that 10 or 11 pound weight advantage, plus the drive in that left hook. I have also found just as many who don't believe Davis will ever reach the will-o-the-wisp target of Beau Jack's chin.

Johns Hopkins vs. The Phils

Johns Hopkins University, always known as the Blue Jays, wins its case against the Phillies by such a wide margin there isn't even an argument left.

The Phillies recently adopted the Blue Jays as their big league title. But the Phillies are still the Phillies—they will always be the Phillies. The Blue Jays belong to Johns Hopkins.

Johns Hopkins is one of our greatest medical and collegiate centers—far more important than the Phillies can ever hope to be, even if they win a pennant and a world series. Or two pennants and two world series.

I can understand why Johns Hopkins doesn't want its sixty year slogan adopted by a big league team that sold such men as Grover Alexander, Bill Killifer, Dolph Camilli, Etten, Rawlings, Bucky Walters, the fiery Bancroft, Dick Bartell, and many others who could have won at least three Philadelphia pennants. I mean great ballplayers.

The Phillies have helped to win at least four pennants for other teams by selling off their best people.

Bob Carpenter, their new owner, had nothing to do with this travesty on the decency of baseball which should have been stopped years ago. For here was a National League disgrace that every one overlooked.

Still Be the Phillies

Bob Carpenter, a well-known athlete at Duke University, a first-class sportsman, a young man headed for war service, with more than his share of cash hanging around, a worthy fellow with a lot still to learn, has backed up the name of Blue Jays for the Phillies.

Bob has been quoted as saying, about Johns Hopkins—

"Prep schools are always making a rumpus. Where did you say Johns Hopkins was located?"

I am not sure Bob Carpenter made this crack. I don't believe it.

If he did, I can tell him about it. Johns Hopkins has been so much more important than the Phillies ever were that all comparisons reach a quick finish.

The Phillies have no right to the title of Johns Hopkins Blue Jays.

They are still the Phillies—and they will always be the Phillies, win, lose or last. And usually last.

Early Wynn Expects Draft Call Shortly

COLLEGE PARK, March 16 (AP)—Early Wynn, who checked in yesterday at the Washington Senators' spring training camp, figures he won't stick around long with the club this season.

Wynn, who chalked up the best record of any of the Senators' hurlers last season, disclosed that he expects his Charlotte, N. C., Selective Service board to get him shortly for the army. Until the call comes, however, he's going to play ball.

Meanwhile, the Senators added another exhibition game to their spring training schedule, giving them a total of thirteen pre-season games. They have booked a tilt with the Camp Lee, Va., team on Sunday, April 2, at the University of Maryland training grounds here.

Boston Red Sox Buy Two Pitchers

BOSTON, March 16 (AP) — The Boston Red Sox announced today the purchase of right hander Lee Bowman and Lefty Dick Johnson from the Louisville Colonels of the American Association for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Bowman pitched in twenty-five games last season and had a record of six wins against twelve losses. Johnson took part in twenty-eight games and had nine wins against twelve losses.

The SPORT TRAIL

NEW YORK, March 15 (AP)—Next to trying to get harmony out of an armful of cats we can't think offhand of a tougher job than coaching a team of coaches, which is what Chief Specialist Clarence "Goose" Jarvis has been doing down at the New Orleans armed guard center.

What's more, he took this batch of assorted cookies, each with his own idea of how the game should be played, and won the Southern A.A.U. basketball championship.

Now it's pretty obvious what might happen when you get five strong-willed gents together and try to get them to play as a unit, particularly if each had a pet system of his own. The confusion, if they refused to co-operate, would be too awful to contemplate, with everybody making left turns or right turns or going into reverse as suited their fancy.

But Jarvis somehow got them all to thinking in the same straight line. How he did it is a mystery, as a zone guy isn't going to take kindly to a man-to-man defense, or vice versa. They must have compromised someway. Just didn't use any, maybe.

Anyway, Jarvis, who is an old Texas A. and I. athlete himself, had a bunch of ex-collegians to work with, at least during the tournament. All of the regulars played on college basketball teams before taking up coaching. The first-string quintet was made up of Ensign Don Brock, North Carolina State, center; Ensign Bill Ruch, Pittsburgh, and Ensign Jim McGuire, Stevens Point, Wis., Normal, forwards, and Ensign Charles Sprague, Iowa, and Ensign Webb Milam, Indiana State Teachers of Terra Haute, guards. That makes five ensigns taking orders from an enlisted man.

The job of co-ordinating five master minds was the least of Jarvis' troubles over the season, however. The team listed above was just his tournament team. During the season he had enough different teams to form a conference.

A total of sixty men played at some time or other during the season, with transfers and one thing and another making the day-to-day roster a shifty affair, and we understand he got quite used to the experience of waking up of a morning to find his team had departed during the night for military, or naval, secrets.

How he ever kept track of so many men is another mystery, although a card index would have helped.

Despite these comings and goings the team managed to win 23 of 32 games, a remarkable performance considering the impromptu lineups he must have had to throw into action at times. When his players went into a huddle before the opening tipoff they weren't planning strategy. They were introducing themselves to each other.

St. Patrick's Day Specials Will Be Offered on Radio

One Network Will Bring a Program from Overseas

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, March 16. (AP)—It being St. Patrick's day in the morning, there should be certain developments in network broadcasting on Friday.

Particularly, Kate Smith now broadcasting from Hollywood, will do things such as a special salute which will include the guest appearance of Abbott and Costello in return for the visit she made on their NBC program this week. Veronica Lake also will be on hand. It is to be noted and A. and C. look upon Kate and her show as their real means of breaking into radio. Tune in CBS at 8 p. m.

Program from Overseas

The MBS network is going overseas by means of a transcription for a St. Patrick's day program, to be relayed at 11:30 p. m. It will be a variety effort with Irish Comedian Jimmy O'dea and the Irish Rhythm orchestra, originated by British radio.

Serenade to America on NBC at 8:15 is having a salute in the form of special Irish songs, in which Singer John McCormack will be the theme.

If everything goes off as MBS has it scheduled, there will be the description of a lightweight bout at 10. The principals are Al Davis, who recently knocked out Bob Montgomery, and Beau Jack, all coming from New York's Madison Square garden with the vocal help of Don Dunphy and Bill Corum.

Besides the St. Patrick's day programs outlined, other features both in regular and special broadcasts are expected, with announcements coming too late to be specific in advance.

MBS has scheduled for 10:30 a fifteen-minute program of the One hundred and fiftieth anniversary of St. Patrick's church, Washington.

Buying of Steels and Rails Helps Stocks To Maintain Higher Prices

BY BERNARD S. O'HARA

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Buying of steels and rails kept the stock market on the forward trail today and favorites added fractions to a point or more at best levels for the year or longer, Saturday.

Dealings were heavy at the start, running at the rate of a two-million-share session, but profit taking soon developed and volume tapered. Closing advances were widespread although top marks were trimmed in many cases and there was a smattering of losers.

As in the tail-end of yesterday's proceedings, investment demand seemed to revive in the wake of the War Labor Board's rejection of the A.F.L. wage ceiling plea. In addition, earnings and dividends tended to inspire bidders. Thousands of possible foreign developments that might unsettle prices caused some customers to cash in on the lengthy upswing. Political optimism still was a bullish factor.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average was up .2 of a point at 53.2, a peak since last July 14. The market was characterized by breadth, 962 issues appearing. Of these 486 were up and 476 down or unchanged. Transfers totalled 1,593,665 shares compared with 1,184,680 Wednesday.

In the 1944 high class were U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, Crucible, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Atlantic Coast Line, Delaware & Hudson, Gulf Mobile & Ohio, Houston Oil, Goodyear, J. I. Case and Western Union "A."

Moderate Curb gainers included American Gas, American Cyanamid "B," Cuban Atlantic Sugar and Creole Petroleum. Cities Service slipped along with Humble Oil and St. Regis Paper. The aggregate here was 332,620 shares versus 261,480 the day before.

A small-scale advance on the rails helped keep the bond market on a steady footing today.

Cork Tree Growing Planned in Maryland

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 16 (AP)—In approximately twenty years a new industry—cork oak tree growing—may make its appearance in Maryland, State Forrester Joseph P. Kaylor stated, in announcing a campaign among Maryland farmers and landowners to raise cork oaks in Southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore.

Filing of Claims By Unemployed Increases Here

Influx of Former Kelly Workers Begins; Benefit Year Starts April 1

With the new benefit year scheduled to start on April 1, there has been a steady influx in the past two days of persons laid off last fall by the Kelly-Springfield Engineering Company to file unemployment claims at the office of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board, Public Safety building.

One hundred and six persons registered at the local office on Wednesday and eighty-six filed claims yesterday, according to attaches of the local office. Since the first of the year the average number of claims filed was about fifteen weekly until business began picking up this week.

Any person who earned $210 last year is not eligible for unemployment compensation. Those who earned between $210 and $600 may or may not be eligible, depending how wages were paid during the quarter. Those who received $600 or more are eligible for benefits.

Majority Went Home

It is estimated that the majority of women laid off at Kelly last fall never went back to work. In fact they just went home and stayed there. Before the layoffs started 2,180 women were employed at the plant in August 1943 and 457 of those never held jobs before.

Under a new experiment being tried in Maryland the claimant files out his own claim at the local office. This plan is being tried in event the staff would be swamped by a rush of claimants brought about by a sudden shutdown of industrial plants. There are now approximately 850,000 persons covered by the law in this state.

Persons laid off at the Pinto plant last fall are not required to file for benefits until April 1 because of the fact they are covered by West Virginia law. However, they may file claims against their state at the Cumberland office.

2,000 Women On List

Employment agents of seven different firms and service organizations are now at the office of the United States Employment Service, Public Safety building, seeking to recruit workers for jobs elsewhere and in spite of the fact that the local active file contains approximately 2,000 names of women the "going is tough" because of the fact that most of these women have their families and homes here and are reluctant to take employment outside of Cumberland.

Interviewers of outside industrial firms refer to the situation here as a "sifting process" because they occasionally sift out a person willing to leave home for a job. There is no law compelling a person to take a job away from home yet unemployment benefits can be suspended if a person refuses to accept suitable work offered here. Male labor is scarce but there are plenty of women still available for work—if they can get it here.

Out of a total of fourteen persons interviewed here Wednesday thirteen were women with children who stated they would rather remain with their families than accept employment out of the city.

Many Jobs Offered

Job opportunities are being offered by the Western Electric Company, Point Breeze, Md.; American Rolling Mill and Fulton Bag Company, Baltimore; Bethlehem Fairfield Shipyard, Baltimore; Triumph Explosives Company, Elkton, Md.; Westinghouse Electric Company, Bloomfield, N. Y., and the Norfolk, Va., navy yard. And last but not least the SPARS are recruiting women at the local USES office.

Two Allegany Countians Will Run For Congress in Sixth District

Daniel F. McMullen, Democrat, Will Oppose Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Republican, in General Election in November

Two Allegany countians, one a Democrat and the other a Republican, were the only candidates who filed for election to Congress from the Sixth Maryland district when the deadline for filing was reached last midnight.

Daniel F. McMullen

The Democrat is Daniel F. McMullen, Cumberland attorney and former Maryland Department Commander of the American Legion, who filed his certificate of candidacy at Annapolis in a surprise move about twelve hours before the deadline.

Eliminates Primary

The Republican is Rep. J. Glenn Beall, Cumberland and Frostburg businessman, now serving his first term in Congress who several days ago filed for re-election.

J. Glenn Beall

A primary contest for the nomination by either party was eliminated by the failure of any other candidates to enter the race and McMullen and Beall automatically became the standard bearers of their respective parties in the general election.

After filing his certificate of candidacy yesterday, McMullen declared in a statement that if elected he will devote all his time and energy to the winning of the war and the peace which follows.

War Most Important

"The most important task before the American people is the complete winning of the war in as short a time as possible," McMullen said. "If elected to Congress, I intend to devote all of my efforts and energies to the task, and when the war has been won, I propose to do everything I can to aid in winning the peace."

He said that unless the war ends this year, a change in the national administration could delay the winning of the war and thus results in the sacrifice of more American lives on the battlefronts, and he continued:

"A change in the administration would mean a complete change in the cabinet, including the secretaries of war and navy, a change of the heads of all the various departments and war agencies of the government, and of the majority of government personnel.

"Ordinary common sense makes it clear that these changes would necessarily slow up the prosecution of the war in the matter of production on the home front, and it would be a miracle if it did not also have some effect even on our military operations, and it would inevitably affect the success of this country at the peace table."

McMullen said he realized that the war was being conducted by all the American people, and that his statement was not to be construed as a reflection on the members of other parties.

Change Means Uncertainty

"I am simply pointing out to the people of the Sixth Congressional District of Maryland," he declared, "the plain fact that a complete change of administration in Washington in the midst of the war would necessarily give rise to uncertainty and confusion, and no matter how able the men might be who acquired office x x x there would necessarily be considerable delay before they could get in stride."

McMullen, a native of Allegany county, attended Georgetown university and was graduated from the University of Maryland law school. He was admitted to the bar in 1915 and entered practice with his brother, the late Hugh A. McMullen, Jr.

He enlisted at the start of the First World war, rising to the rank of captain. He has for many years been active in the American Legion and has served as local post and state commander.

American Legion Post To Recruit WAC Candidates

Atherton Makes Appeal; Three Women Sought for This Month

In response to an appeal from Warren H. Atherton, national commander, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, and its auxiliary unit has accepted the responsibility for obtaining at least three women in the month of March as candidates for enlistment in the women's army corps.

Charles G. Smith, commander of the local post last evening announced that the women will be directed immediately to the local recruiting station where they will be interviewed by competent recruiting personnel, and where they will learn further of the great need for their services and the many advantages and opportunities WAC training and service can offer.

Drive Opens Immediately

"Fort Cumberland post and auxiliary will launch its drive immediately to obtain at least three women candidates in the remaining two weeks of March," Smith said. "Those interested may obtain application forms by contacting the local Legion home."

In a letter to Smith, Atherton stated that it is evident that the War department has a need for thousands of women to do specialized jobs in the army that is immediate and urgent. For this reason, he continued, it behooves The American Legion to do all in its power to carry out the request of Maj. Gen. James A. Ulio, the adjutant general, and the planning board for WAC recruiting with the utmost dispatch.

The basic qualification for the WAC besides possessing the ability to pass reasonable intelligence and physical examinations, is that the candidates be between the ages of twenty and fifty years. Women with children under fourteen years are not acceptable. It is not required that the applicant have a definite skill or training, as those without such attributes will receive training in the desired field.

Applications Arrive

Accompanying Atherton's letter were applications for enlistment in the WAC which are marked to indicate they originate with The American Legion. In this way the total may be compiled for national headquarters in Indianapolis at the end of March. If other applications are used, the local commander is advised to be sure to see that the enlistee writes in the name, The American Legion, upon her application.

Twelve Second Division Nominees Have Been Elected in City Tests

White and Keyser Jumped from Eighth Place to Upper Bracket; Changes Shown in 11 of 16 Contests; Election Scheduled Next Week

How much of a chance does a candidate for city council have of finishing in the "select circle" in the general election if he holds any of the positions below fourth place at the conclusion of the primary contest?

This question seems to be a popular one at the present time because eight of the men nominated on March 7 will go to the post next Tuesday awaiting the final decision of the electorate and if the dope runs true to form only one man has a chance to crash the upper bracket in the finals.

Since Cumberland's commission form of government was established back in 1910 a total of sixteen primary contests have been held and in eleven of those at least one candidate who was listed in the lower quartet came through with bells on when the final returns were tabulated.

Double Surprise Listed

Records kept at city hall indicate that on only one occasion did two men jump from the second division in the primary to oust out candidates listed among the first four. That unusual occurrence was recorded in 1916 when C. Frank Keyser, the well know tailor, hurdled from eighth to fourth place and Adam Lebeck zoomed from sixth to third position. Those eliminated on that occasion were Dr. T. A. K. Hummelshime and Joseph S. Shriver.

Clifton W. White, now president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, was the "long shot special" in the election of 1928. Down in the eighth place or cellar position on primary day 623 votes behind Charles J. Cumiskey, holder of fourth position, White skyrocketed into fourth place in the general election, finishing 106 votes ahead of Cumiskey who just missed the winners' circle.

Two Jumped from Eighth

Keyser and White, incidentally, are the only candidates, who per-

Depot for Storage Of Wastepaper Here Is Stressed

Facilities at Tin Mill No Longer Available Due to Changes

Need of a suitable depot for the storage of the wastepaper being collected for the war salvage campaign was stressed at the monthly meeting of chamber of commerce directors last night. Facilities heretofore available at the old Taylor tin mill are no longer available owing to changes being made there. The Salvage committee of the chamber, of which W. Donald Smith is chairman, is seeking a new depot and would appreciate any aid given to that end.

Smith reported that plans are being made for holding another tin can collection some time in April. B. J. Lyons, chairman of the Industrial Salvage committee, reported a collection of 2,387,694 pounds during January.

Note was made of a change in the War Production Board setup for industrial salvage. The field will be covered by a representative from Clarksburg, W. Va., who will check all types of industrial salvage instead of the previous procedure of assigning certain materials to a number of representatives. Expedition of the work is expected in consequence.

Announcement was made that a War Production Board analyst will be at chamber headquarters Friday, March 24, and that the visits of an Office of Defense Transportation representative on Mondays and Tuesdays would be continued.

Henry W. Price, the national councillor of the chamber, and Harold W. Smith, secretary, were appointed delegates and George L. Buchanan, president, and Douglas R. Bowie, alternates, to the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States May 3-5 in Washington. The local chamber is an affiliate.

No One Is Injured When Two Cars Crash On McMullen Highway

No one was injured but two automobiles were badly damaged at 6:40 a. m. yesterday in a collision on the McMullen highway six miles south of Cumberland.

Last night, Oran Brown, Keyser, W. Va., driver of one of the cars involved in the crash, was fined $5 and costs by Magistrate Roy S. Teamsters Union Sends Spokesman To Wage Parley

John O'Brien Will Confer with Union and Dairy Heads Here Today

A representative of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs and Warehousemen of America, is scheduled to come here today to confer with officers of Dairy Workers Local No. 924 and managers of three Cumberland dairies for the purpose of discussing ways and means of increasing the wages of "inside workers" at local dairy plants.

John O'Brien, of Chicago, is the representative appointed to meet with the labor and management groups this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the offices of the Queen City Dairy, Inc., 310 South Mechanic street.

Ernest N. Screen, president of Local No. 924, A. F. of L. affiliate, last evening stated that the War Labor Board, Philadelphia, has advised him that its hands are tied in the matter of wage increases because of the "Little Steel" formula but will continue to give the local matter consideration.

At a recent meeting of the dairy workers union members voted to go on strike Tuesday, March 22, unless wage increases of fifty cents a day are approved by the WLB.

The managements of the three local dairies have agreed to the fifty cents raise for "inside workers" but the request was rejected by the WLB which approved wage boosts ranging from 16.8 to 22.8 cents daily.

It is estimated that ninety per cent of Cumberland's milk supply will be cut off if the workers of three dairies carry out their threat next Wednesday.

10 Board 1 Men To Enter Service

Seven to Ten Days Elapses before Test Results Are Received

Ten registrants of Local Board No. 1, Virginia avenue, will leave here March 29 to begin active service in the army and navy, DeLisle Chaney, chief clerk, announced yesterday.

Those who will leave by train for Fort George G. Meade to begin army training are Virgil T. Welsh, 935 Grand avenue; Forest L. Welsh, 117½ Arch street; James E. Long, 532 North Centre street; James W. Murray, 201 Fifth street, and Jack D. Boden, 218 Oak street.

The navy contingent, who will leave for the Baltimore navy recruiting station by bus, are Charles L. Dyer, 116 Springdale street; John Turner, 50 Utah street; Carl E. Hillegas, 315 Paca street; Richard W. Keller, 59 Offutt street, and Paul F. Cline, 640 Baker street.

Since the inauguration of the pre-induction system, Chaney said, registrants who have taken physical examinations have been calling local boards to ask the results of examinations.

Reports of pre-induction physical examinations are not received by the board for from seven to ten days, Chaney asserted, so the board is unable to answer such inquiries.

In case registrants successfully pass the tests, two weeks usually elapse before local boards are notified when registrants are to report for induction.

Regulations assure a twenty-one day interval and in most cases registrants have received about thirty days between examination and induction, Chaney added.
